University Ideals

(Extracts from President Futrall's address to the students at the opening of the college year, September, 1914.)

"Arkansas has often been spoken of as a state of great natural resources, but the most valuable asset this state or any other state possesses is its young men and young women. The chief function of a university is to develop these young men and young women, or rather to assist them in working out their own development, to the end that they may be of service to their state and to humanity. * * * It is not what an institution can offer to the student in the way of fine buildings and fine equipment that counts. Nor is it an encyclopædic knowledge of facts stored away in his head. It is the development of natural ability and character that is worth more than all else put together.

"A hundred years ago, education, even of the elementary kind, was thought to be for the elect. The great masses of the people had no part in it. It is only within the last twenty years that the idea has grown up that even higher education might be carried to thousands of those who are prevented by age or by circumstances from enrolling in a college. The development and the putting into practical operation of this idea has been the great contribution of the universities of the Middle West to the cause of education and to the national welfare. The University of Arkansas should join in this movement to a greater extent than ever before; and with harmonious action and enthusiastic work on the part of her faculty, her students and her alumni, she can and will take her place among the foremost of them all.

"The people of Arkansas have their eyes on this University as never before. Their attitude is friendly. They are watching and waiting to see what we will do. Our aim should be to make clear to the people who support this University that we are working, not for selfish purposes, not simply to create an institution that may reflect credit on you, its students, and on us, its faculty, but that we may build here an institution that will do the highest possible service to the state; an institution that will be worthy of the noblest ideals and the highest aspirations of a great people."

Foreword

Our aim in the publication of this CARDINAL has been to present to students, faculty and friends a volume that is the embodiment of the spirit of our University. Toward this end we have done our best. We feel that no apology is necessary, but that congratulations are in order.

In thumbing these pages, dear reader, do not look upon them with an eye of scorn, raising a cloud of mental dust, a smoke as you go; but take the bright and sunny way as you skim through this mirror of the past; regard the wise and foolish things herein, and let yourself be entertained.

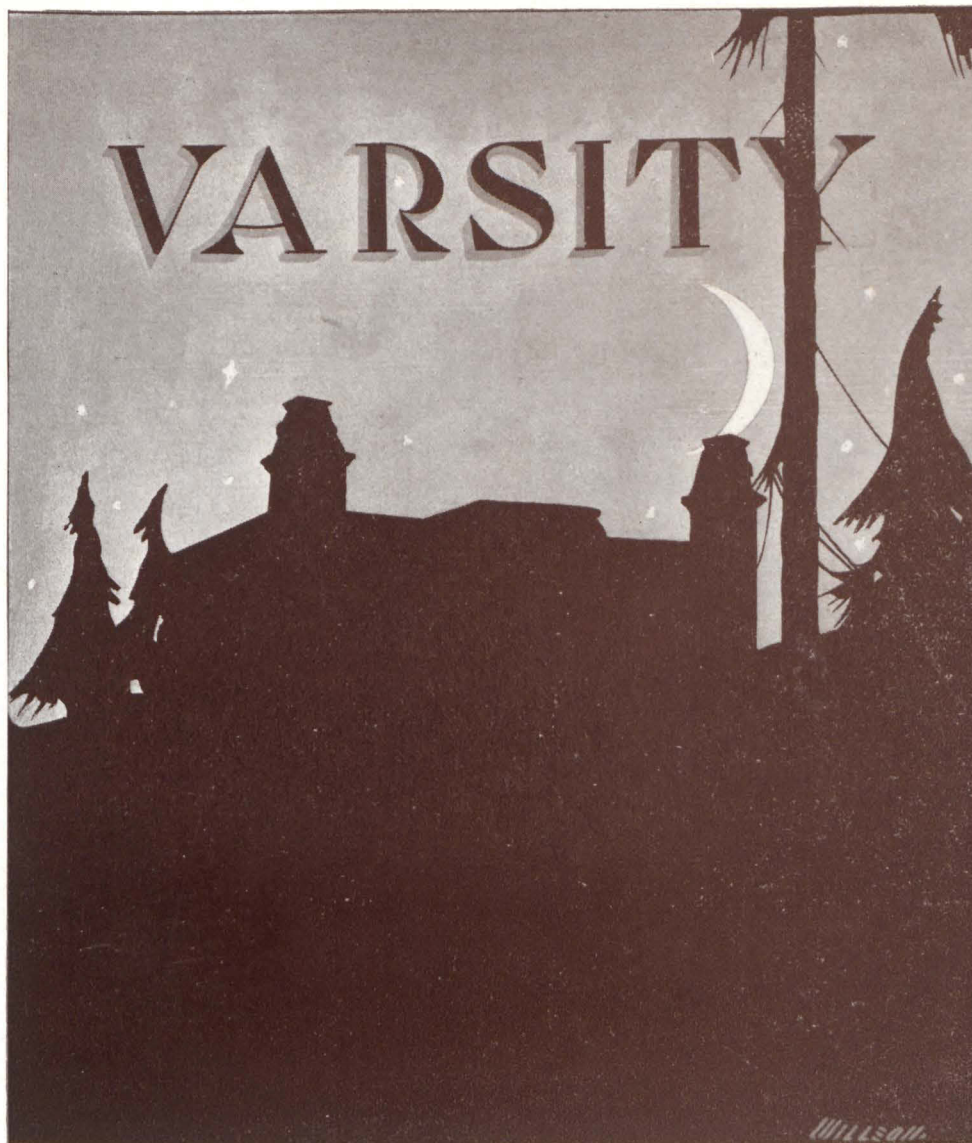

Our endeavor has not been to produce a volume of any particular literary merit, but rather to inscribe a memento of days spent in the University of Arkansas in the Ozarks. We hope our end has been accomplished, and that this volume shall contribute its mite toward a greater University and a greater State. We now recommend this CARDINAL to you with our compliments.

SENIOR POEM

THE VOYAGE.

Our ship is launched, our sails are set and far
Out o'er the main we cast uncertain eyes.
They cannot penetrate the mist to see
What breakers and what shoals we must pass by,
Nor what propitious stars look through the heavens
To point us to what happy shores beyond.
Our ship is built with skill and careful hands;
Our pilot by the heavy test of Time
Hath proved his art. Our captain brave and true
And guided by a sapiential hand
Hath weathered many a gale, and like a bold
And gallant voyager commands his crew,
"Sail onward! Never cast your eyes behind!
Unfurl your banner to the eastern gale,
And in the westward trend of Learning's course
Be ever at the front! Let not the roar
Of breakers nor the Siren's song drown out
The thunder of a righteous cause! Fear not
To meet the wrong! Combat it with the right!"

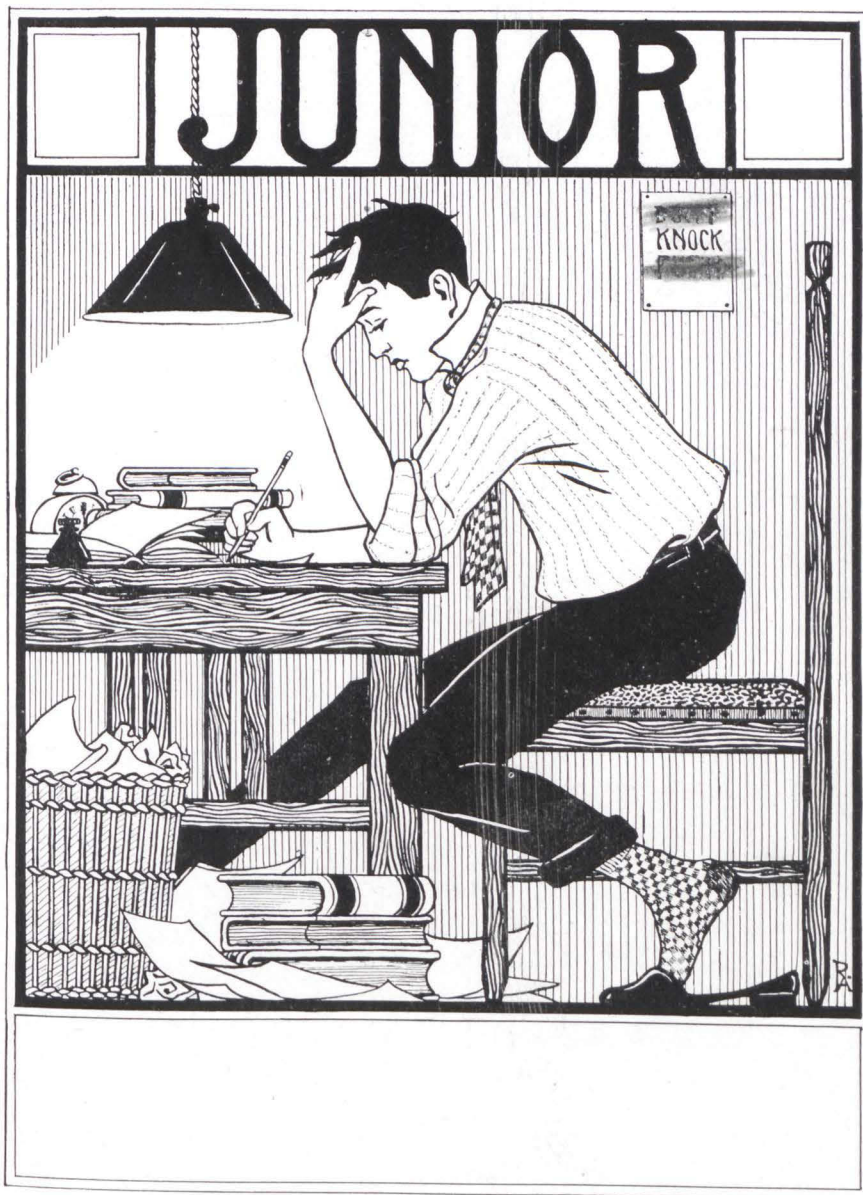

—E. T. S.

THE FOUR AGES.

FRESHMEN

Open those most musty, miserable mean, mothy eyes of yours, so that all which is written herein may be impressed in letters of fire upon your soupy brain.

Do not let the abominable, facial portion of your anatomy project itself upon any thoroughfare until you have arrayed your loquacious, garrulous and loathsome body in an immense ornamental knot of verdant chlorophyll hued ribbon worn upon the lapel of the coat.

Do not, when passing an upper classman, reveal your condition of quadumanous, pusillanimous, servitude by not keeping closed the lamellibranchiate peregrination, knob of ivory, which in your high school hallucinations you have erroneously termed head.

You shall not contaminate SHULER TOWN by your lepidopterous presence after NINE o'clock p. m. unless accompanied by a YOUNG LADY or UPPER CLASSMAN.

High school emblems and chanvinisms of all misadvised conceptions are unanimously consigned to the trash pile.

Do not let yourselves be caught wearing any loud colored ties, shirts or socks, for to do so may be to invite disaster.

Never let your cussed, carbuncled countenances, contaminate our consecrated campus when you wish to woo the GOD of NICOTINE.

These rules must be obeyed NOT LATER THAN MONDAY MORNING, SEPT. 21, and if you should fail to observe these rules your remains will be taken care of by the UNDERTAKER and deposited in the sewer.

Freshman Proclamation, 1914-15.

The Cardinal 1915

To the
Imperial Chancellor John E. Martineau

Who in his judicial capacity has won for himself admiration and respect throughout the entire state, because of his absolute impartiality, his knowledge of the law, and his fearlessness in tempering mercy with justice; who for the past eight years as a member of our faculty, by his conscientious and untiring efforts, has reflected honor and credit upon our institution, and has been an inspiration to us, we respectfully dedicate this volume.

THE IMPERIAL CHANCELLOR JOHN E. MARTINEAU.

Seniors

J. B. BINLEY.....Helena

Has been the nominee for every office in the Goar Lyceum. "Bush" stands in with the faculty.

" 'Tis much he dares,
And, to that dauntless temper of his mind,
He hath a wisdom that doth guide his valor
To act in safety."

FRANK C. BOLTON.....Argenta

A painter by trade. Is like a cork in a bottle of Argenta beer—always popping off. His motto is, "Give me Socialism, or give me death."

Candidate for Police Judge of Argenta.

ROBERT J. BROWN, JR.....Little Rock

Business Manager of the Cardinal, '14.

"Bob" is an all around athlete and spends most of his time playing basketball in the City League. Dares to "do all that may become a man."

JOHN A. BURKE.....Little Rock

A patriotic son of the Emerald Isle. Is an attentive and devoted brother. Will some day have the "Doctrine of Estoppel" invoked against him for his failure to speak when he should speak.

KATHERINE BURKE.....Little Rock

Junior Class Historian. Member of the Cardinal Staff '15. As to her future, "Let me not think on it—Frailty, thy name is woman."

W. F. COCHRAN.....Little Rock

Is the "high cock-a-lorum" in the Iron Mountain shops of Argenta. This man "hath borne his faculties so meek, that his virtues will plead like angels, trumpet tongued against the deep damnation of his taking off."

W. J. CLARK.....Conway

A graduate of the Arkansas State Normal. Talks like he had the croup. "I know no personal cause to spurn at him. He would be crown'd" with class honors. Class Prophet.

J. R. CROCKER .....Ozark

Men have called him a "croaker", but that is not his name. Is the "right hand man" of the Secretary of State. With his political influence he should have no trouble in gratifying his ambition to become the Police Judge of his native city.

HARRY W. ELLIOTT.....Little Rock

"To knock, or not to knock, that is the argument. Whether it is safer to speak or forever hold peace."

Harry is the enthusiastic and efficient salesman for M. M. Cohn Co. Is in love and does not know whether he will ever engage in the active practice of the law or not. Says "the world is a stage where every man must play his part", and his a busy one.

C. C. ELROD.....Siloam Springs

Comes from the land of the big red apple. Understands all the principles of law, but can't give an acceptable definition to the "Dean". Will introduce a bill in the Legislature providing for equal suffrage for the women in 1917.

J. E. FALKENBERG.....Medford, Okla.

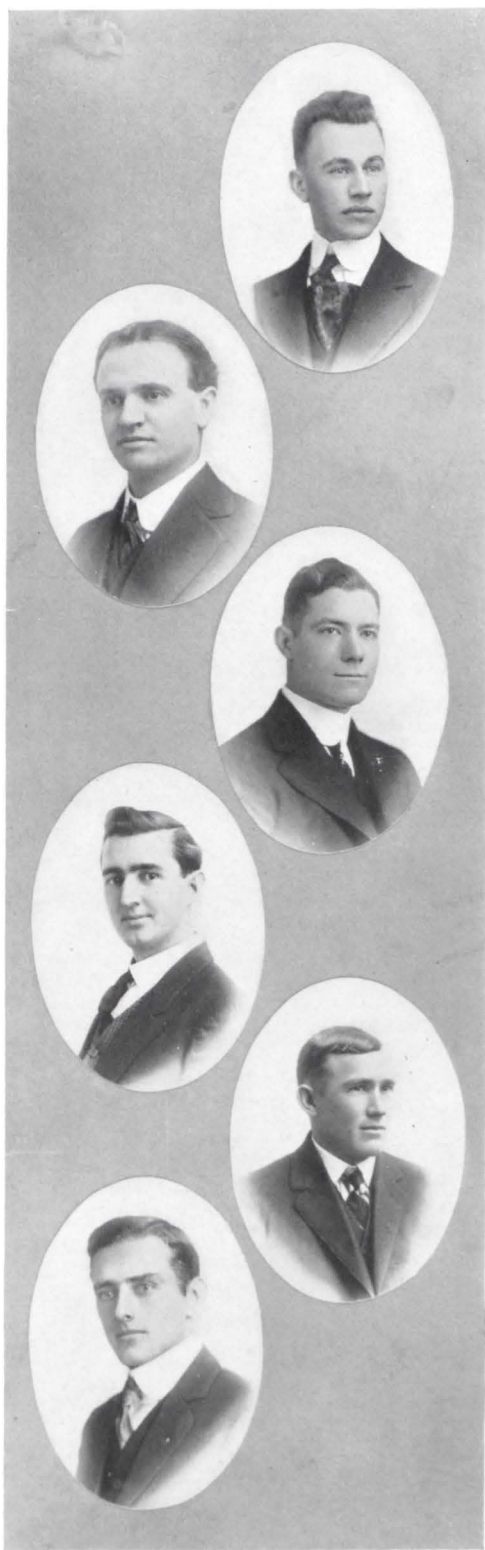

"Friends, Romans, countrymen,
Lend your ears to this man."

He hails from the "wild and woolly west." Is afraid of neither God nor man—and has already conquered woman. Left "his footprints on the sands of time", when he became the first President of the Carmichael Debating Society. The great State of his nativity will soon hear from him.

GROVER C. GATES.....Newport

Now "Mr. Gates" is subject to sporadic outbursts of oratory. Answers all questions which the rest of the class are unprepared to do. For this reason the "Dean" says that he is going to make a great lawyer some day. Will probably succeed Chief Justice McCulloch in 1935, as he is at present his private secretary.

HENRY G. GATLING.....Forest City

Junior Class Orator.

"Gat" can trace his lineage back to the first King of Denmark, and for this reason is of a somewhat fighting temperament. He abhors shyster lawyers, and has an ambition to be retained by some large corporation. "Wants a girl just like the girl that married dear old dad."

OTIS GILLEYLEN.....Murfreesboro

The gentleman from Pike County.

Can ask more questions in a minute than an ordinary man could in a week. Made himself famous by reading a paper on "How a Young Lawyer Should Conduct Himself." "Time shall unfold what plaited cunning hides" in this man.

ROY W. GODDARD.....Little Rock

His cardinal virtues are nonchalance and candidness; his vices chewing gum and whispering in class. "Will all great Neptune's ocean wash this man clean" from Frank's Laundry, his present place of employment.

PERRY C. GOODWIN.....Salem

Has courted the favor of the God of Political Fortune and lost. Perry can talk on most any subject and no one will know what he is talking about. Will alternate the agricultural and pedagogical professions.

F. D. GOZA.....Donaldson

An unsuccessful office seeker. Has an idea that he is not popular with the student body. Gozie's future is uncertain—will most likely be successful "teaching the young how to shoot."

OWEN O. GREEN.....Booneville

"Truly, I would the gods had made thee poetical."

"Greeney" is an energetic sort of fellow, who invariably stalks into the class room about ten minutes late, disturbing the attention of the assembly and annoying the lecturer. For all this he is destined to do great things in the field of literature.

W. E. HALL.....Scotland

This "Cassius has a lean and hungry look; he thinks too much." Has a habit of answering the right question at the wrong time. His ambition is to "brush down the cobwebs from the walls of Congress."

JOHN E. HARRIS.....DeQueen

"He was a man, take him for all in all,
I shall not look upon his like again."

Seems to know more than he wishes to disclose. John has those two great assets, courage and confidence, so needful in life, which mark him for a successful lawyer.

A. L. HENDERSON.....Newport

"Hen" is one of the secretaries of the Y. M. C. A. Attended Salem High School at one time. Aspires to cleanse the politics of our State from graft and corruption.

ECTOR R. JOHNSON .....Augusta

"Ec" is married and all the boys know it, for he never stays out late at night. Has been successful in several occupations. His great desire is to engage in the business of securing pardons for convicts.

WILLIAM P. JOHNSON .....Little Rock

Here is "Bill." A man full of wit and humor. A handsome Irishman, who attends class once in a while. Should he decide to take law seriously there is not a doubt but that he would make good.

HENRY H. JONES .....Little Rock

It is strange that a man so great should possess a name so common. Henry debates, studies law and courts the ladies all in one season. Should the law prove to be a poor paying proposition, he will marry a rich girl and live in plenty.

O. S. JONES .....Salem

Mark Antony had nothing on this man as an orator. He thinks not loud but deep. Will return to his native hearth to practice his chosen profession—may make a specialty of prosecuting mountaineer criminals.

CHARLES Q. KELLEY .....Corning

Attended U. of A. four years and did everything that was to be done—from singing on the Glee Club to dancing the Maxixe. With these many accomplishments "Kelley ought to slide in with a home run."

SAM LATKIN.....Little Rock

"Hearken, O Israel! unto the statutes and judgments" of this Moses. Sam's oratorical and argumentative powers are undisputed. He is an intelligent chap, and is to become a member of the firm of Carmichael, Brooks, Powers and Rector.

ROBERT R. LEAGUE.....Little Rock

Holds a position with a local bank. His chief occupation is "lady fussing." His low batting average for class attendance will necessitate his relegation to some "Bush League."

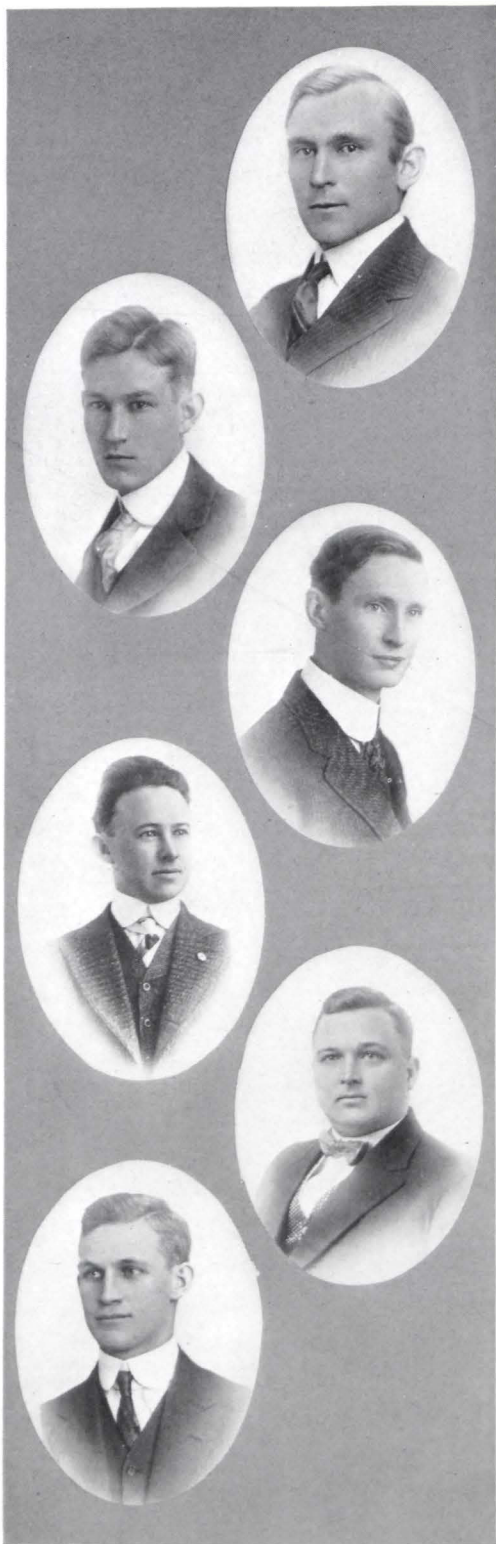

TROY WILSON LEWIS.....Little Rock

Lawyer, Author and Publicist.
Was appropriately named "Long Arrow" by the United Commercial Travelers.
President of the Senior Class.

EDWIN SCOTT LIDE.....Camden

A. B. Hendrix, '14.
Student, Scholar, Orator.
"Boss" is a modest, unassuming, unpretentious man, but once he lets himself out all the powers of his Satanic Majesty cannot stop him. His sole ambition is to succeed Chief Justice White.

GEO. A. LONGSTRETH.....Little Rock

George and his brother put the Arkansas State Normal on the football map of Arkansas. And if "sawing wood and saying nothing" counts in the game of life he is destined to cover a lot of ground in the legal world.

ROY MARTIN.....Little Rock

The martin is noted for its swiftess. But this "Martin" is noted for his ability to solve difficult legal problems. He is destined to hitch his wagon to a Kirby's Digest and fly very swiftly from one J. P. Court to another.

RICHARD M. MILES .....Little Rock

"Nature hath framed strange fellows in her time."

"Dick" is a valued employee of the Southern Trust Company. With his experience as a banker and his knowledge of the law he is prepared to make a name in the business world.

JAMES A. MILLER.....Little Rock

One of Uncle Sam's most trusted servants. Works on the night shift at the postoffice and studies law in the day. "Jim" is a conscientious worker and a forceful debater. The class of 1915 predicts for him much success.

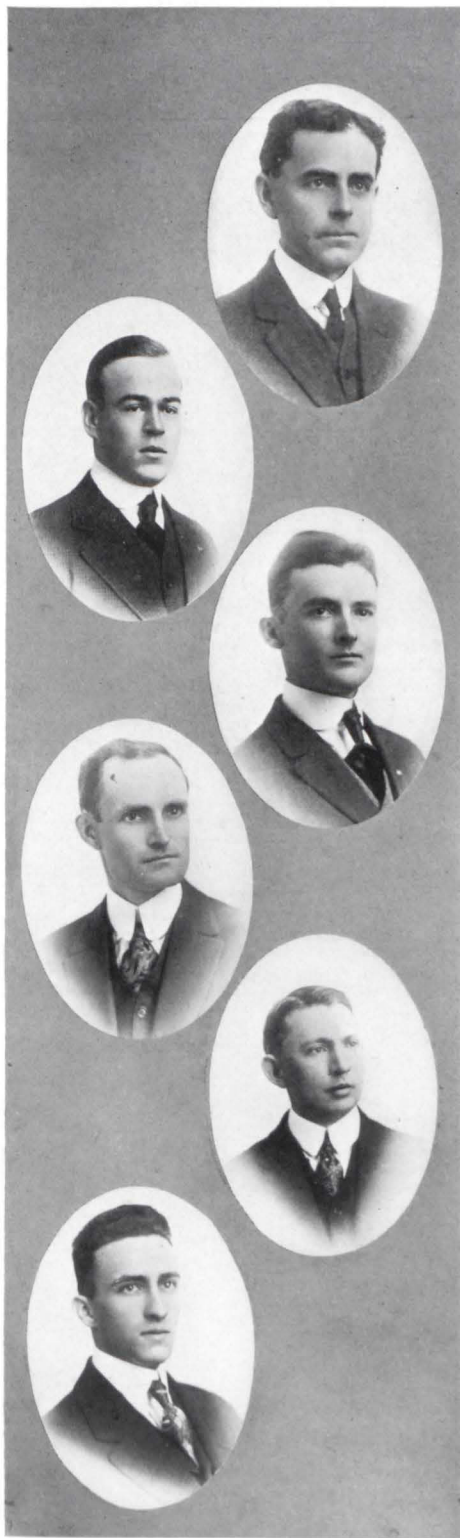

O. L. McNAIR .....Little Rock

A Pulaski County politician, who well fills the description of one of Cæsar's "sleek fat men".

"Mack" cuts Goar Lyceum because he has a pull with the faculty. However, if his brain is as big as his body he should be well qualified to handle a lucrative law practice.

WILLIAM ROY PENIX, JR.....Bono

"Peter Willie Roy" finished the U. of A. in 1912. Nobody knows how he did it. Made himself obnoxious to the student body by giving the contract for the pictures for the Cardinal to Harris, the Photographer. "Cousin Willie" aspires to do great things, but will most likely settle down and lead the simple life of a farmer.

THOMAS W. RAINES .....Star City

M. D. Medical Department, U. of A., '08.

Although "Tom" has prescribed the drugs which have relieved many a diseased man, very few know it. He has decided that he can do more to alleviate suffering humanity by arming himself with a set of Arkansas Reports and a Kirby's Digest, and go forth assailing the incorrigible Justices of the Peace of our State.

HAMILTON P. SMEAD.....Camden

"Hamp" attacked the fortresses of learning in the academic department of the U. of A. for two years, and after attending sorority dances and playing football, came forth a well-rounded man, both in mind and body. By the conscientious and persistent effort with which he is bombarding his mind with legal facts he is bound to obtain gratifying results.

THOMAS G. RANDLE.....Benton

First saw the light of day in the great State of Louisiana, which has produced so many great men. This "Pelican" says that he is not yet full of knowledge, and contemplates taking academic work at Fayetteville before launching out on the starvation period.

A. L. ROTENBERRY .....Little Rock

"God made him, and therefore let him pass for a man."

"Mr. Rotenberry" is an author and historian of no little ability. His most valuable donation to literature is a treatise on the Monroe Doctrine. Is ambitious to become a deputy Prosecuting Attorney in Pulaski County.

FRED L. SATTERFIELD.....Little Rock

Fred was court reporting almost before he had learned to lisp. Having grown tired of this occupation after following it several years, he now desires to take up the practice of law. To this big, good-looking "German" we prophesy much success.

L. C. SAUNDERS .....Little Rock

"Sandy" has a happy faculty of never knowing what the lesson is. Yet he manages "to get by"; "forsooth I know not why". He has a "perfectly good looking face", and should be able to hitch up with some sweet "summer girl with pharmaceutical complexion" who has oodles of money.

JOSEPH H. SCHNEIDER.....Argenta

"A Daniel come to judgment."

"Joe" has ventured into the political game along with friend Bolton. On the Socialist ticket he seeks to become a city father of Argenta. If "Joe" is to be a politician he should be a speaker, and therefore attend the Goar Lyceum at least once.

R. BEN SHAVER.....Mena

A typical nomad. Ben has traveled far and wide; has gazed upon the rugged mountains of Wyoming; has ridden the wildest broncho that ever roamed the plains of Montana. And like the prodigal son of old he has returned to his father's fireside to live and die, happily pursuing the study of the law.

W. W. SHEPHERD.....Little Rock

Some have said that there was a lot in a name, but this man's cognomen is not at all applicable to his anti-pastoral nature. "Shep" diversifies court reporting and reading law, and should his hand become palsied he will resort to the latter for the support of his wife and babe.

HARRY W. STEWART.....Camden

Former secretary to Senator Jeff Davis and present secretary to Governor Hays. "Harry" can most often be found in the lobby of the Marion Hotel among the rest of the politicians. It is said that he has been admitted to practice law before the courts of the State. With his smiling countenance and friendliness he will continue to increase his acquaintance over the State and at some date in the near future he is most certain to be our Governor.

E. H. TIMMONS.....Houston

Teaches school in the summer and winter, and studies in the spring when he should be fishing. Yet he articulates his superficial sentimentalities with astounding perspicuity. Admires oratory and detests logic. His ambition is to add a supplement to Webster's Dictionary.

E. G. SHOFFNER.....Little Rock

Won distinction in the Fortieth General Assembly as a representative from Pulaski County. Has introduced several important bills, and has made himself a very much respected personage. His legislative duties have necessitated his absence from the class room much of the last few weeks, but he will soon be back in the fold studying the law as hard as he has worked as one of our distinguished solons.

W. C. WALLIN.....Little Rock

"Even in laughter the heart is sorrowful."

"Wallie" is one of those good old scouts who has the "world beat" at tending to his own business and leaving everybody else to tend to their own affairs. He has done this so well that Uncle Sam is threatening to raise him from the position of night clerk at the postoffice to one that will be more suitable to a law student.

J. M. WOODS.....Evening Shade

Here is our friend "Woods", a man who is always willing to make a strenuous effort to do the right thing. He has combined banking and law for the last two years, and it is a "toss up" as to which one he will choose for his life's profession. It is a sure thing that he will make good in one or the other of them.

W. E. LIVINGSTON.....Little Rock

A very enthusiastic and industrious student. Does not intend to become a practitioner of the law, but will apply these legal principles in divers real estate contracts, to be made by him in the future.

Class Prophecy

As the prophetic eye looks far into the dim and mystic future, the members of the class of 1915 are seen in many and various positions of life.

Hall is seen in the J. P. Court of Van Buren County, standing before a jury, every member of which has been moved to tears by his forceful, yet pathetic, speech in the defense of J. M. Woods, who is being tried for assault with intent to practice law, while the Justice who presides at the trial, with such solemnity and firmness that he would convince the most unbelieving that he is the nation's greatest criminal judge, is none but our old friend James A. Miller.

Henry Jones, Saunders, and Elliott, after trying in vain for several years to monopolize the legal practice of Little Rock, have entered into a partnership for mutual consolation and sympathy, and decided to be content with only a part of the practice of that city.

J. "Bush" Binley has been taken into a large firm of lawyers in one of the Northern States, not so much because of his knowledge of the law, as because of the fact that he was the "best looking" member of his class, and it was thought he would probably increase the clientage of the firm among the fairer sex.

E. H. Timmons has retired from the practice of the law and is now the president of the Suffrage Nursery Company, Inc., which was organized immediately after the passage of the woman suffrage bill, for the purpose of caring for and rearing the children of women who desired to give most of their time to politics, and whose husbands were either dead or abroad. "Bob" Brown has, by his attorneys, Roy Goddard and Fred L. Satterfield, sued the Suffrage Nursery Company, Inc., for $10,000.00, alleging that on and for several days before election day his wife was away from home in the interest of politics; that he applied to said Suffrage Nursery Company, Inc., in the usual way and requested them to take and care for his child; that they wilfully, and without cause, refused to take the said child; that he was compelled to stay at home and look after it and thereby damaged in the sum of $10,000.00. Penix and Gatling, attorneys for the Suffrage Nursery Company, Inc., expect to prove, conclusively, that under the new law it is the husband's duty to look after the children while his wife is in politics, and that this company was organized solely for the purpose of accommodating widows and women whose husbands were abroad, or at least beyond their control, and that it was not the object of the company to relieve man of his lawful duty. Upon this proof they expect to get Judge W. W. Shepherd to give an instruction to find for the defendant.

Livingston and Shoffner are the chief members of the Southern Pacific Aerial Passenger Transportation Company, which has largely supplanted the railway passenger service. Gates, Henderson, and E. R. Johnson, an able firm of lawyers, are the attorneys for this company, and they find their time completely taken up in defending the company against the many suits that are being filed by enterprising members of the class of 1915.

Troy W. Lewis and Thomas Rains, the only noted criminal lawyers of the class, have found Arkansas too calm and sober, and gone to fields more fertile with crime, where they can exercise their extraordinary talent, and their vast knowledge of criminal law. The former has gone to Texas, and the latter to New York.

Lide, Latkin, Harris and League, after deciding that they were not yet prepared to take up the practice of law, have been giving most of their time to writing text books on the various subjects of the law, expecting to get into active practice after they have made their reputation in the legal world by their writings.

O. L. McNair and E. R. Young have been in county politics since their graduation in law, each having held most every office in the county, and are now ready to start on their second round. Another politician of the class is Harry W. Stewart, who has had the State Political Machinery under his control for a number of years, and is now the Governor of the State. It was through his influence that J. A. Burke, our most worthy Attorney General, and J. H. Schneider, Associate Justice of the Arkansas Supreme Court, were elected to office.

O. S. Jones, Speaker of the House, is using all his influence to get the law repealed, whereby woman was given the right to chastise her husband with a stick larger than her wrist, but since the women have taken such a large hand in politics it is not likely that he will succeed.

When the new President of the United States came into office in 1925 he appointed Crocker as Secretary of State, but Crocker had just taken his first lawsuit a few days before and could not accept the position, since he desired to try his case.

In the Ninth Judicial District Smead has been elected Circuit Judge and Goza Prosecuting Attorney, and it is a well settled principle in that district that a criminal has no more chance than a snowball in August.

But all the members of the class did not go into politics. Two or three have made reputations at authors. C. Q. Kelley and W. P. Johnson have not only distinguished themselves, but have made a large sum of money by the sale of their book on "How to Get Through School Without Studying." Since they have had so much actual experience their book is regarded as an authority, and has been placed in the hands of almost every law student in the Union.

A. L. Rotenberry has made himself famous throughout the world, and has built a monument that will live for ages after he has passed away, by writing a very elaborate treatise on the Monroe Doctrine. In the meantime Longstreth is distinguishing himself as an editor of one of the nation's greatest law journals.

F. C. Bolton, Socialist candidate for President of the United States, having been in the race for about twelve years, has employed the firm of Cochran, Wallin and Martin to represent him, and expects to become popular by fighting the corporations and assisting the labor unions. It is to be regretted that he has recently been seriously injured by the explosion of his "Little Red Book of Mental Dynamite." However, it is thought that he will recover.

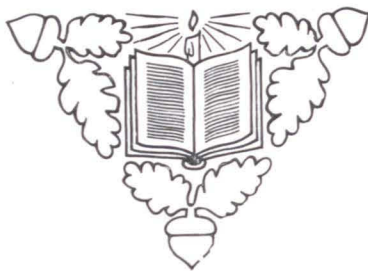

Shortly after the state-wide prohibition bill went into effect in this State, Gilleylen, Bailey and Miles, a distinguished firm, found their practice too dry, and for various reasons went west to a State where no such law was in force, and there they continue their "practice", and also their study of the law.

Falkenberg, Goodwin and Shaver have entered into a partnership for the purpose of looking for the Rule in Shelly's Case. They have been several years studying it and state that they will go into active practice after they have found the rule and thoroughly mastered it. Poor fellows! they are turning gray now.

Mr. Randal and Miss Burke have formed a partnership, probably for mutual admiration. Miss Burke will be the chief member of the firm.

Our old friend C. C. Elrod, not having found a lawyer with whom he wished to be associated, has opened up an office in the mountains of Benton County, has married a charming little girl, and seems to be doing well. He says that since his marriage he is perfectly contented and that his troubles are all "Little Ones."

Owing to lack of time and space the prophet will not mention those of the class who have joined the Salvation Band, or are in the penitentiary.

Juniors

NORFLEET E. BLAINE.....Marvel

"Vanity of vanities, thus saith the preacher,
all is vanity."

"Fleeta" is a born orator.

H. J. BREMEYER.....Argenta

"Eternal sleep! Oh! how sweet!"

A devout subject of Morpheus, who thinks young lawyers sleep in the daytime and burn midnight oil.

W. C. BRADFORD (Major).....Lonoke

"On rode the Noble Six Hundred."

The Major is a good student, as well as a good soldier.

I. L. BUCKALEW.....Argenta

"Adaptability is a much coveted element."

"Buck" has quite a fund of this commodity.

W. E. BEENE.....El Dorado

"A merry heart maketh a cheerful countenance."

D. M. DIFFY.....Bismark

Vice President of the Junior Class.

"Dignified, earnest and intelligent,
Surely goodness shall follow thee always."

M. F. ELMS.....Alpine

Secretary of the Junior Class.
 "Great oaks from little acorns grow,"
 "And Elms should do likewise."

B. H. GUENTER.....Argenta

"A man of sovereign parts, he is esteemed."

DR. L. M. HILL.....Hartford

"Throw physic to the dogs; I'll none of it."

ARTHUR J. JONES.....Little Rock

President of the Junior Class.
 "He has courage, without insolence,
 And strength without violence."

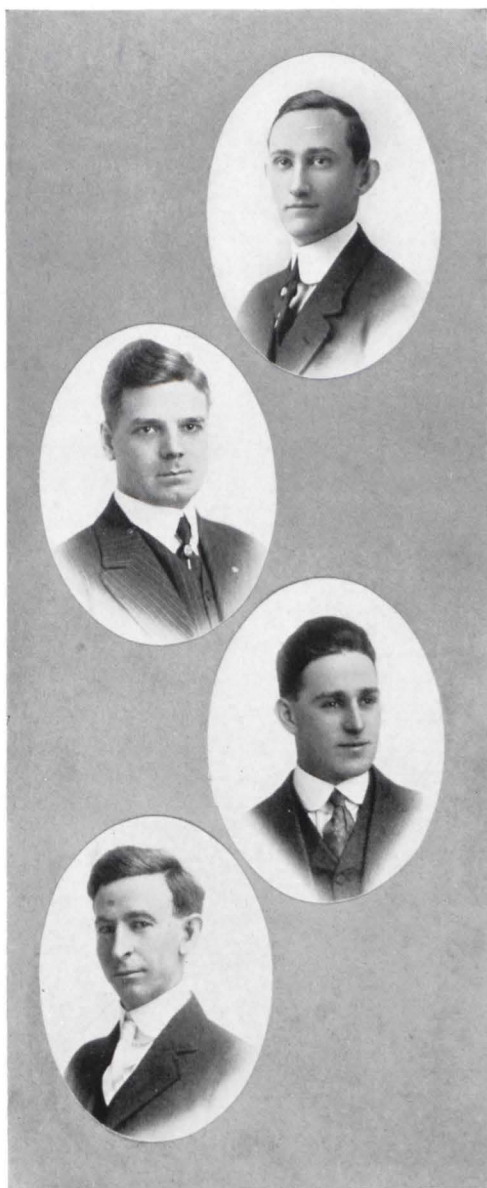

EDWIN J. LISKE.....Argenta

"Eat, drink and be merry for tomorrow you may die."

ELMER SCHOGGEN.....Little Rock

Class Orator.
 "He that hath knowledge spareth his words."

ERNEST SOWELL .....Little Rock

"What hath God wrought."

S. M. SPEARS .....Little Rock

"Men at some time are masters of their fate."

J. B. TUCKER.....Perryville, Mo.

"Thou canst not say I did it: never shake Thy gory locks at me."

SHELBY W. WOODS.....Evening Shade

"There is no art
To find the mind's construction in the face."

Spirit of Justice

I.

Ah, the pure, vestal call of Justice,
What wonderful legends it tells!
With its breath like a rose's fragrance,
And its voice as of tinkling bells.
Like a page in its virgin whiteness;
Like an infant's life, untold;
Like the dawn of a fond hope's brightness,
When wisdom's first leaves unfold.
Ah, the joy of its gentle calling,
How it comes like a magic draught!
Like a wonderful, sweet elixir
From the ghosts of wizards quaffed!

Ah, speak, sweet voice of Justice,
While I, in this spell divine,
May read the glowing message,
That thrills thy heart to mine.
Come, thou hast passed through fire and revolution,
From Aurora kissed dewy dawn
To balmy twilight eve of Nations;
Through the heart throbs of every people;
Through the valleys of sin and death:
Oh, tell me the fount of thy cleansing,
Thou Platonic Justice of man to man!

II.

I have passed over the battle's ravage,
I have borne through the mires of sin;
Through the dark and loathsome prisons,
Where the sun cannot enter in;
I have kissed the lips of the dying,
Ere I bore their souls above;
I have mourned with the sad, in their sighing,
I have joyed with the glad in their love.
As a seer from the distant ages,
I have lived since the world began;
I have breathed through the countless pages
Of the record of man with man.

Ah, Sir, with a dimmed vision—
When the midnight hour draws near,
And the earth, o'ercharged with ignorance,
Is a-throb in a travail of fear:
Then blacker and blacker the shadows,
And colder and drearer the night,
'Till a new day burst from the heavens,
And the old melts away from sight—
At that crucial hour, I wakened,
Like a soul that is born anew;
Bringing joy to the earth's mistaken,
Bringing courage and hope to you!

III.

Thus I learned from the midnight ordeal,
That had passed while the heedless slept;
And I gleaned from crystalized opinions,
How pitiless Logic had swept
The pathway of Justice free from every deception!
And I saw how the mind o'erburdened,
And dwarfed with ignorance's despair,
May be cleansed in the mind's travailing,
Until pure as the morning air!
—Troy Wilson Lewis.

A LAWYER'S HEAVEN

To lazily float
In a painted boat
On a shimmering morning sea,
Or to flirt with a maid,
In the afternoon shade
Seems good enough sport to me;
But the evening hour,
With its subtle power,
Is sweeter and better far,
If joined to the joy,
Devoid of alloy,
That lurks in a good cigar.

Senior Class History

Believing, like the gardener, that the youngest plants should have the tenderest care, and that education is the foundation of Medicine, we entered school four years ago with a desire to work, to grow, to learn, to love and to achieve—a class of twenty-three men and one woman, with what, at that time, we thought were golden opportunities, but with the future and its promises before us. This being the College year of 1911-'12, and the one in which the U. of A. Medical Department and the Physicians and Surgeons Hospital College were consolidated, therefore we were the first class of uniform thought with the same opportunities and encouragement. At which time the school was all located at Second and Sherman streets, and though our facilities were not so great as they are now, we were looked upon by the Dean as being a self reliable class, and so envied were we by the Junior and Senior classes that the song which is applicable to so many things was applied to us:

"Makes no difference if they are low down,
You can't keep kicking those Freshmen around."

We managed to keep that pace through the year. Though during the summer vacation we were not in so close touch, the class spirit prevailed. But when we met again for the session of 1912-'13, some had chosen other professions, and some for various causes were not able to return. Nevertheless we entered upon that eventful year with new students who proved to be of the same valor as those who did not return, and under the administration of a new Dean, and with additional laboratories, professors, and equipment. With the class organization came the election of officers. Our president, from previous college life, was full of ambition and good ideas, and gave us the proper stimulus, so that we kept the pace of our honored professor of pathology. So busy were we that only at long intervals we found time for an occasional football game, a theatre, or a class dance, and it was not until Spring that we began to check our speed, when one of our professors missed an occasional lecture or the boys thought of their past life at home that symptoms of Spring fever began to appear, and at night when we were all alone with the warm Spring breeze blowing gently through the window we would sit for hours gazing at our pathologies, thinking,

"Why was I not endowed with Health,
Friends, Fortune, good looks and Wealth?"

Even in our Junior year we were delighted to have some new students. Though they came late among us they were no less welcomed therefor, and it was in this year that those of us who had been more fortunate could look back and see some who had been with our class entering the year we had just finished. It was during the Junior year that we developed broader views about medicine and could begin to apply the things we had learned in the past two years which we thought were being imposed upon us and would never be of value. With the election of new class officers came new ideas, and our president, a man who was sober, steadfast and demure, and was loved by all, does not deserve more attention than our class secretary. Having more time than in the previous two years for amusement, it was agreed by the class that we collect a given sum weekly to be used by the class in the way agreed upon, but the treasurer, of whom it was so often said that—

"He could distinguish and divide,
A hair 'twixt south and southwest side,"

being so good a collector, not only afforded means for the weekly livelihood, but allowed for a banquet, which was so rare to the Juniors, and which was so much enjoyed by all that its effect was lasting. It was in the latter half of the second semester of the Junior year that we began to think and plan for the Mighty Senior, but luckily we had the summer vacation to think it over. During this vacation some of us worked in hospitals, some went to their homes in the Sunny South, others to the Great Lakes in the North, and from Greenway to the Boston Mountains, east and west. And one,

Oh! if we only knew
That the stripes he saw were Red, White and Blue.

The session of 1914-'15, which marks the progress of what we believe to be the greatest class in the history of the Medical Department, with an enrollment of twenty-one, and with a man of whom it may be said that he had rather be right than president, as our leader. A class who acts and thinks as one with a mind that has been properly trained and educated by the never-tiring professors, and with the hope of an M. D. in the end, we are making rapid progress as Seniors and are trying to set an example which will instill into the classes below us the ability to work in faith with the motto, "That whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap." And now the last year being reached, and the last part of the year here, we pause, and with you our hearts rest, and not without some gentle regret of parting ourselves and leaving you behind; in whose joys and hopes and cares and sorrows we have shared no imaginary part. Have you found in us anything that will give you nobler thoughts and higher ideas? If so, appropriate it and make it your own. We have tried to make your troubles part of ours. Though we are no model, we are congenial, sociable and kind, of the same spirit, and one unit in mind.

PERRY VERNON WAGLEY, '15.

JOHN THOMAS SHERRILL, Senior Class Mascot.

Senior Class Prophecy

The prophecy is subject to any criticism from anyone, as the prophet is young in the business, and has to rely to some extent upon imagination. The time of fulfillment is 1935. You will notice that some of our fellow-classmen have given up their chosen profession and gone into other vocations.

BARKER, NIM L. Nim is located at Harrison, Ark., where he has won the esteem of the profession by his wonderful achievements in obstetrics.

BREMER, JOSEPH PETER. Dr. Bremer is now located at Bourbon, Mo., where he is living easy on his income from the sale of his "Never Fail" cancer cure.

BREWER, HOWELL W. Brewer has long since given up his chosen profession and is now the manager of the New Willard Hotel in Washington, D. C.

BRUCE, GROVER C. Dr. Bruce, after following his chosen profession for five years, has given it up on account of its small income, and now resides on a forty-acre farm in Van Buren county.

BRYANT, ROBERT H. Time, 1935. Place, Africa. Occupation, Medical Missionary.

HINKLE, SHELBY BOONE. Hon. S. B. Hinkle has just entered upon his fifth race for State Senator from his district, having been successful in the preceding four. The above is an exact copy from the Stone County Record in 1935.

HUMPHREYS, LINCOLN. Humphreys is city physician of Argenta, having a side line of insurance.

HUTCHISON, SAMUEL. Having accumulated a fortune from the practice of medicine he is now retired, his only worry being how best to spend it.

HESTERLY, JACOB B. The father of a happy family of five boys and six girls. Dr. Hesterly has just been notified that he won the county prize on fine bred chickens.

HALL, CHARLES W. Dr. Hall has just been chosen president of the A. M. A.

MATTHEWS, WALTER M. Brother Matthews is now closing his fifteenth year as pastor of the First Presbyterian Church at Des Arc.

NOLAN, J. W. Dr. Nolan has just completed his work of two volumes on "The Discovery and Transmission of the Parasite Causing Yellow Fever."

OWENS, M. W. Owens has the largest society practice of any physician in Little Rock.

PARMLEY, L. V. Died five years ago. Physicians ascribed the cause to overstudy while in school.

REVELEY, S. L. Dr. Reveley is now the professor of Pathology and Bacteriology in the Medical Department of U. of A.

RIEGLER, NICHOLAS W. Has made good as second assistant to Dr. Carle Bentley, through these long years, and is now prepared for advancement to first assistant.

SHERILL, RUFUS HANSON. Dr. Rufus ("Will") is located at Buckner, Ark., where he does general practice and is serving his tenth year as school director.

THOMPSON, HOLMAN B. Dr. Thompson is located at Spielerville, Ark., and aside from his professional duties he is serving as Justice of the Peace.

WAGLEY, PERRY VERNON. Lieutenant Wagley has retired on half pay from the U. S. N., having served his specified time.

WATSON, FRED S. Fred is located at Point Cedar, where he gets his mail once each week. He has just invested his twenty years' savings in a microscope and intends to practice scientific medicine from now on.

WRIGHT, JEROME. Pat has just taken unto himself a helpmate, and now intends to devote the rest of his life to his profession.

We cannot refrain from expressing our appreciation of the association of the above class during our four years in school, and we believe that the true prophecy of each will be that of a true, upright and honorable physician, an honor to his profession and a leader for good in the community in which he lives.

R. HOMER BRYANT, '15.

Senior Class Poem

We are waiting alone by the Medical fire,
With our books closed—now the year is done,
The school is quiet, the Juniors asleep,
The bell is still and our battle won.

We think as we read our surgery,
And bless our lives for by-gone cares,
Life's burdens heavy for the strongest of men,
But few can believe what a student bears.

For here we are at close of school,
While some have enjoyed theatres on Main,
We will often try as man can do,
In our humble manner to soften the pain.

We'll tell them all in a learned way
Of careful diet, and bacteria grown;
When we have preached of regular meals,
We'll not have time to eat our own.

We've sown our oats, pretty wild they were,
In the manner when life was free;
For a Medical student isn't a saint
Any more than doctors claim to be.

I suppose we did what students have done
With studious minds, laughter and glee;
And the innocent pleasures we loved,
Will be cast away for our Degree.

We recall, as the mists of years
Through the portal of memory steals,
The kindly voices of doctors,
Who taught us well the ways to heal.

As we pass in the faith of Medicine,
Our freshman days will ne'er be forgot;
For there are better things in the world
Than to choose the doctor's sad lot.

We're compelled to leave school so dear;
To earn a living that isn't cheap,
To practice and to win our way
By working hard and losing sleep.

Day and night at the will and call
Of men who ail, women who lie,
To know how often the bad ones live,
And see with sorrow the good ones die.

To be laughed, scorned as one who fails
When Nature pays her terrible debt—
To give the mother her new born's smile,
And leave the eyes of others wet.

For nothing we'll treat the widow,
We'll be easy on those who can't pay;
For nothing we'll watch the poor ones,
And by their bedside we will stay.

To do our duty we have sworn
As others in this world of pain,
And drive away to the helpless
Through nights of snow and days of rain.

We hope to leave good examples,
For those who will remain behind,
As the work of all great doctors,
Make us advance and not decline.

Still as we sit by surgery's fire
Studying, things are not as they seem—
We look upon the future bright,
And hope we will realize our dream.

Sophomore Class History

Our class started the year 1913-'14 with seventeen husky, hard-working fellows, all having a vision of an M. D. However, seven of our boys were not able to finish the first year's work with us on account of sickness, financial troubles, etc. The ten of us that finished the first year's work were more enthused than ever and on the opening of the 1914-'15 session, were back on the job with our fighting clothes on.

We were joined by other students, making our total number thirteen to start in with, but the beginning of the second semester brought us down to ten in number.

In the face of what has already happened to our class in its brief existence, I do not think it wise to attempt a prognosis at this time.

It has been said that "only the fittest survive." Our "big ten" are all fit and we feel certain that there will be no more slicing unless the whole bunch is sliced on account of non-appropriation. Nevertheless, we are determined to secure a degree, and we venture to prophesy that these ten Sophomores will each receive a "sheep's skin" in 1917.

All our bunch are loyal members of the Bentley-Dibrell Medical Society, and contribute our share of papers at the semi-monthly meetings.

You will hear from us next year.

H. V. HUGHENS, Assistant Editor, '17.

Freshman Class Roll

HOWELL ATKINSON. "Argyrol is good, but I have a remedy that beats it."

R. CALCOTE. "Cally." If he can't be a leader, he'll be a follower.

GEORGE A. HAYS, JR., He is continually shocking the class by his vast store of knowledge.

O. G. HIRST. "Buttermilk." A thing of beauty is a joy forever. X. Z. X.

E. J. HORNER. "Olecranon." He has a willingness to express his opinion at any time whether asked to do so or not.

A. M. JONES. "Big Jones." "I know I'm right." He generally is. X. Z. X.

H. F. H. JONES. "Little Jones." "I am rising to a man's work."

CHESTER E. KITCHENS. "Kitch." When you can't prescribe anything else, give the Kitchen pause.

H. M. KECK, A. B.

"A little nonsense now and then
Is relished by the wisest men."

PAUL LEO MAHONEY. The style is the man himself.

CHARLES P. McCRACKEN. "Levi." Never seen without a box of Levi Garrett, or a thermometer.

J. E. NEIGHBORS, A. B. The emblem of submission and meekness.

R. R. ORRILL. "Littlun." Little, but has a heart as large as his native State (Texas.)

F. A. NORWOOD. "Fanny." Fools all the Profs. part of the time, and part of the Profs. all the time.

A. E. RUSSELL. "Alice." Lillian quit the movies for the study of Medicine. X. Z. X.

CLYDE RAMEY. If quietness indicated wisdom he would be a library, but—

G. W. REAGAN. As a rule good natured, but objects to wearing duodenal, jejunal, and ideal ties.

H. W. SMILEY, V. S. "Hoss." Unquestioned authority on horse epithelium and milk.

H. V. STROUPE. "Colonel." Not that he loved study less, but he loved fun more.

R. BURTON WALKER. His conduct varies inversely as the square root of his distance from the teacher's desk.

This year inaugurates the beginning of a five-year course in the Medical Department of the University of Arkansas. The class being small, individual instruction has proved very beneficial, and an opportunity for extra work has been gladly taken.

The men pictured on this page are like "Damon and Pythias" of old. When one is seen, the other will shortly appear.

Saturday afternoons are usually spent in tramping the woods. The hunting has been good, but the finding poor.

Medical Year, 1914-15

SEPTEMBER.

- 7th to 14th.—Registration of students.
8th to 12th.—Entrance examinations.
8th to 12th.—Examinations for removal of conditions.
14th.—Formal opening at 10:00 A. M. in amphitheatre. Dr. Morgan Smith, Dean, greets the students with a few well-chosen words. Dr. Frank Vinsonhaler reviewed the history of the College. Lectures began on the afternoon of this day.
15th.—Many new students arrive to revel in the mysteries of Medicine.
16th.—College book store reported good sale of books.
17th.—Longino visited our sister city (Argenta).
25th.—Senior Class meeting; election of officers.
26th.—Junior Class meeting; election of officers.

OCTOBER.

- 5th.—Freshmen are invited into the anatomical lab. Some strange delusions that night.
16th.—Prof. Higgins: "Caloway, define Bacteria." Answer: "They are pizen things."
23rd.—Meeting of the Bentley-Dibrell Medical Society, and election of officers.
28th.—Owens looks sad; board bill due.

NOVEMBER.

- 1st.—Longino requests class meeting.
2nd.—Maco charmed by ride in Dr. Bond's auto.
10th.—Medical students are numerous at the moving picture shows (Saturday nights).
20th.—Brewer! Brewer! Brewer! and still his hairless head turned red.
22nd.—H. E. Mobley too busy at County Hospital to get to lectures on time.
26th.—Day before Thanksgiving. Many students fast in order to do justice to the occasion when the time occurs.
27th.—Thanksgiving Day. (Square meal.)
28th.—Vacant seats are numerous. Too good a time the day before.

DECEMBER.

- 2nd.—Owens confessed the first time he didn't know.
Mid-Semester examinations began.
10th.—Wells falls asleep during Dr. Kirby's lecture.
12th.—Caloway changes his boarding place.
15th.—Sophomores held services in Chemical Lab. Some confessions and others requested prayer.
Miss Buckner (College nurse): "I have always said there are two classes of men I would never marry, i. e., doctors and traveling men."
16th.—L. Humphreys was late at college; he had to see some ladies to the depot.
20th.—Parmley visits the pool parlor.

- 21st.—Matthews makes a break.
25th.—Xmas Day. Presents, both ways?
28th.—Medical students scarce.

JANUARY.

- 1st.—New Year's.
2nd.—Thoughts of returning to school.
4th.—School opens. General handshaking.
5th.—Everybody reports a good time.
10th.—Final mid-term examinations begin.
12th.—Student body attends church.
15th.—Dr. Bathurst: "Wright, give treatment of skin diseases." Answer: "Some that sulphur will cure, some that brimstone will cure, and some that all hell will not cure."
17th.—Mumey has changed his address from Old Soldiers' Home to the Wagon Yard.
Berry spends his spare time in the City Park with a certain Senior's girl.

FEBRUARY.

- 2nd.—"Ground Hog Day."
4th.—Dr. Smith: "Nolan, what is the constituents of cow's milk?" Answer: "Buttermilk and whey."
5th.—Rose failed to attend class.
6th.—Pete Bremer's favorite prescription, Canabis Indica. Physiological action like a phonograph.
Dr. Bond: "Humphreys, what is the best prophylactic?" Answer: "Iodine."
15th.—Armstrong: "Dr. Watkins, you are not in the family." Dr. Watkins: "No, I am a close observer."
A. L. Mobley requests his roommate to practice hydrotheraphy on his feet.
Dr. Bentley: "Hall, how you treat an abscess?" Answer: "Screze it."
Dr. Harris: "Riegler, what is Egophany?" Answer: "That is what the goat said when he went over the fence."
Dr. Dooley: "Bryant, what is the best bath?" Answer: "Bichloride bath."
Dr. Carruth: "Mr. Jones, give the diameters of the pelvis?" Answer: "Straight up, straight down, and straight across."
Mr. Wells: "Dr. Bond, here's a prospect."
16th.—Pat Wright is a frequent visitor at Blass Dry Goods Store on Saturday nights.
Some Blonde Baby.
Steele: "Dr. Pemberton, what is metabolism?" Answer: "By Gad, Steele, been here two years and don't know that."
17th.—Dr. Falisi: "Dashiell, what is Cholecystitis?" Answer: "Inflammation of the Bladder." Hisses and cat calls.
18th.—Dr. Watkins: "Rose, describe a Cancer." Answer: "Pathologically speaking from a physiological standpoint (er—er)——" Dr. Watkins: "Put on your brakes."
19th.—Dr. Saxon: "Sherrill, what is a pessary?" Answer: "Either hard or soft."
Dr. Witt: "Bryant, give the official Latin name for blue ointment?" Answer: "Hydrargyri Blue-um."
Dr. Floyd: "Bremer, what's the difference between strangulation by the cord and that by ligature?" Answer: "It's more Blueer."
20th.—Dr. Smith: "Riegler, What is whey?" Answer: "I thought that was skimmed milk."

History of Engineering in the University of Arkansas

As early as 1873 some Engineering work was offered in the University, and a four-year course was outlined, but no mention was made of a degree until 1878, when the degree of C. E. was offered for the completion of the course.

What Engineering work there was, in the early history of Engineering, was principally Mechanical, supplemented by such subjects as Mathematics, English, Science, Philosophy, History and Political Science, Bookkeeping, Psychology, Ethics, Sociology, Evidences of Christianity, Constitutional Law, etc.

A course in Mining Engineering was offered during the period from 1880 to 1886, and the degree of M. E. was given for completion of the work.

The real beginning of Engineering work in the University was in 1885-6, when two four-year courses were outlined by the faculty, one leading to the degree of B. M. E. and the other to the degree of B. C. E. At the same time a four-year Manual Training or Mechanic Arts course was established.

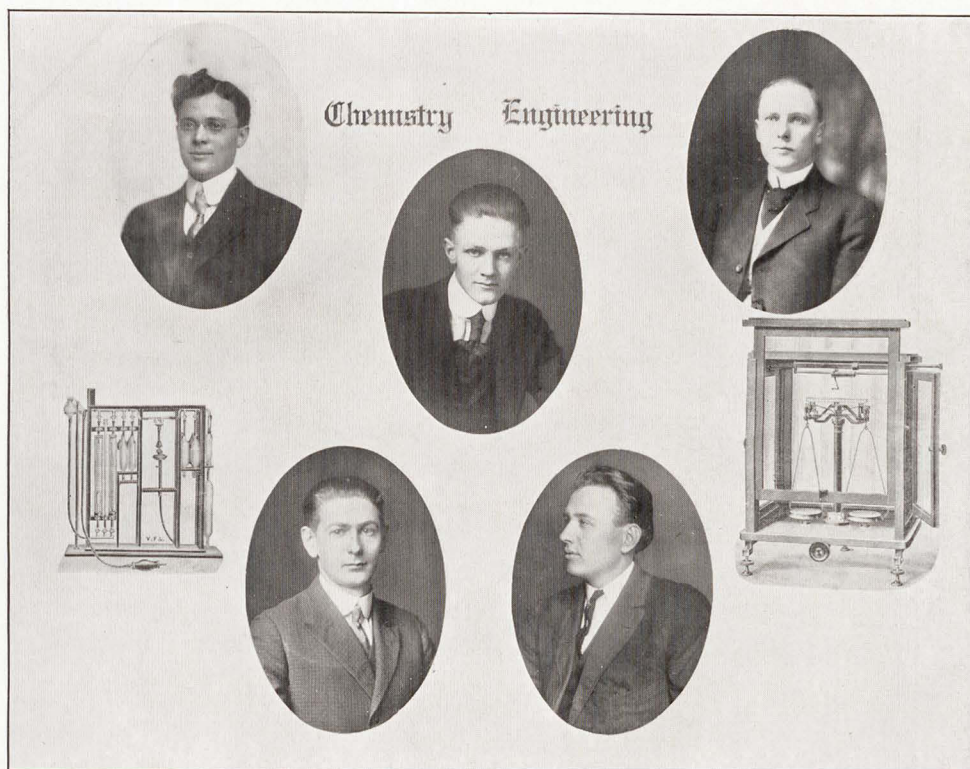

In 1891 a four-year course in Electrical Engineering leading to the degree of B. E. E. was added. All three degree courses were identical through the sophomore year and required 76 hours for graduation. In 1894 a short course (two-year) in Electrical Engineering was introduced and the Manual Training course was styled "Mechanic Arts Course." The three degree courses were increased to 75 hours, and gradually diverged from the original subject matter by the introduction of more and more technical subjects until in 1902 the only subjects common to all three courses were English, Mathematics and an optional foreign language. The hours required for graduation had now been reduced and varied from 64 to 66 hours in the different courses. At this time there were only 60 hours required in the A. B. course. It is a notable fact that almost since the beginning of Engineering in the University, more hours have been required for graduation than have been required in the A. B. course.

The course in Mining Engineering was revived in 1894 and one in Chemical Engineering was introduced. In 1908 a course in Cement Engineering was outlined and carried in the catalog for a few years. The degree courses which have survived and are at present being offered are Civil Engineering, Mechanical Engineering, Electrical Engineering, Mining Engineering and Chemical Engineering. Special and short courses are also offered in Civil, Mechanical and Electrical Engineering, and last year (1913-'14) a new four-year course in Highway Engineering was introduced.

Extension work by correspondence and study center classes has also been carried on for the past year. At Fort Smith and Van Buren a class of 20 employees of the steam and electric railway companies has been organized into a night school. They are studying such subjects as "Electricity and Magnetism," "Telegraphy," "Power Plant Engineering," "Mechanical Drawing," "Sheet Metal Pattern Work," "Steam Engines and Boilers," etc. They meet twice a week and an instructor from the Engineering College meets with them twice a month.

The enrollment of Engineering students in 1914-'15 is 174, distributed as follows: Civil Engineers, 53; Mechanical Engineers, 32; Electrical Engineers, 86; Mining Engineers, 1; Chemical Engineers, 2.

CHEMICAL ENGINEERING

The course in Chemical Engineering is so planned as to furnish not only theoretical instruction in the subject of chemistry, but also its practical application in connection with Mechanical and Electrical Engineering. The course gives the student a proficient knowledge of the fundamental principles that will enable him to enter intelligently into the profession of industrial chemistry.

The first year of the course leading to the degree of B. Ch. E. is practically the same as that of the other engineering courses. The sophomore, junior and senior years embrace studies which may be grouped under the heads of organic and inorganic chemistry, qualitative and quantitative analysis, physical and industrial chemistry as the major subjects, and the fundamental courses in Mechanical and Electrical Engineering as the minor ones. Considerable mathematics is required as well as a working knowledge of some foreign language.

The greater part of the course is taken up with laboratory exercises and investigations both in Chemistry and Mechanical Engineering, extending through the whole period of four years.

Electrical Engineering

This course is intended to give the student a good general education and to prepare him for a successful professional life.

A student completing the course will be prepared to enter any branch of the profession and make good. He will be able to enter manufacturing, electrical contracting, installation and management of power plants, designing, electric railroading, signaling, telephone and telegraph engineering, illuminating engineering, consulting engineering, etc.

For a number of years all of the graduates of this department have been enabled to obtain employment on graduation. The large electrical companies, both manufacturing and operating, offer employment and frequently ask for more men than the department can supply.

The A. I. E. E., an engineering society for electrical engineers, holds its regular meeting on the second and fourth Mondays of each month, for the purpose of discussing the latest engineering news developments.

The Mechanical Engineering courses are designed to cover the following fields: Steam engineering, gas engineering, heating and ventilation engineering, hydraulic engineering, refrigeration, machine design and shop management. Short courses are given in architectural drawing, automobile work, mechanical drawing, pattern making and power plant engineering.

The course in Mechanical Engineering, leading to the B. M. E. degree, provides a sufficient foundation for work along mechanical engineering lines. The Trades courses do not lead to a degree, but are designed to give the student practical training in drawing, shop work and the handling of machinery.

The Arkansas Student Branch of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers was established in 1909-'10. Meetings are held every two weeks to present original papers, and to discuss current engineering topics.

MINING

ENGINEERING

Department of Geology and Mining

While mining is not one of the striking industries of Arkansas, it is an important and growing industry, and it is the aim of this department to fit young men for efficient service in the State as mining engineers and as economic geologists.

The work as laid out in the catalog is planned so as to give a good grounding in geology, mathematics, chemistry, physics, surveying, drafting, mining, metallurgy, and at least one language besides English. This broadening of the groundwork, we believe, will best serve our students in fitting themselves for the varied needs that mining engineers and economic geologists encounter in their work.

The department has fair laboratories and excellent equipment in mine models, relief maps, ores, minerals, rocks, fossils and biological specimens. The geologic and mining library is a good one.

The Ozark plateau region about Fayetteville offers abundant opportunity for physiographic studies and training in stratiographic mapping, while the coal of the Arkansas valley, the zinc, lead and marble of North Arkansas, the bauxite of Central Arkansas and numerous other economic geologic products over the State give abundant opportunity for profitable and interesting studies in geology and mining.

Who Painted the Smokestack?

Over the walks they tread so silent,
Not a word could you hear them say;
Every care and precaution had they taken
All watchers and passers to stay;
Lest their paint should be found.

Round the shop they did step
In stealthy procedure and disguise,
Carefully were they watching
Every chance for surprise.

Erect and high stood the stack.
Little was the heat inside.
Light in weight and quick with brush,
Instantly Oneal made his stride.
Now he made what seemed a "one,"
Going down a "nine" came next,
To be followed by the first repeated;
Only reversed he made next a "six"—
Nineteen hundred sixteen!

—By Three Tarbabies.

"Ott Wirze"

"Watt are you doin' there?" asked the boss.
"Eating currents," replied the apprentice, shamefacedly. "Anode you'd catch me at it."
"Wire you insulate this morning, anyway?" demanded the boss.
"Layden bed."
"Wouldn't that jar you? Can't your relay shunts get you up mornings?"
"Amperently not."
"Fuse going to do that you can take your hat and go ohm," replied the boss, and the circuit was broken right there.

Agri Stunt

In the year 1914-'15 them Agris gave their first big stunt. They gave it the Wednesday night before Thanksgiving—just the time when they could show what swell folks Agris were. The crops had all been harvested so they fixed the armory up swell, just like a real barn. Right in the middle were two awful cute little calves penned in with bales of hay, chickens cackled to each other from their coops in the windows, and you ought to have seen that Agri horse and the way it took the starch outen the honery lookin' beast in the opposite corner of the room owned by the other feller. All kinds of grain hung up to dry—specially ears of corn, and some of the ears were red. There were also cornstalks all around the walls.

The best thing tho was the bales of hay where the fellers and gals flopped down between dances. They shore did beat the old stiff benches where they generally sit in misery thinking about their feet and spinal column.

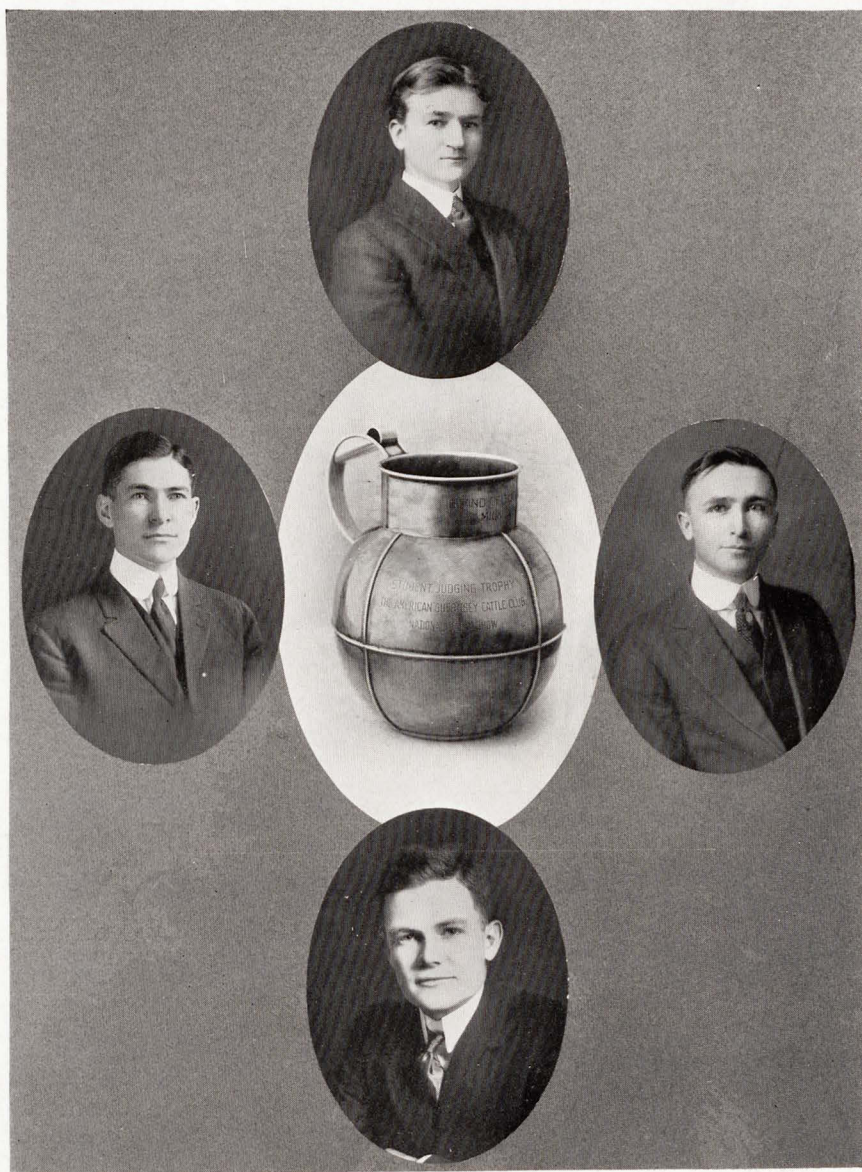

There wasn't much sittin' down, tho. Folks just had to shake their feet. It was mostly roun' dancin', but they did the Virginy Reel some. Those that didn't dance played Rook on bales of hay and talked and laughed.

The real beauty of the dance was the costumes. The fellers didn't wear no biled shirts, nor stiff collars, nor dude pants. They just wore overalls and jumpers. And the gals, whew! they were the prettiest lot of wimmen folks in the settlement with their clean aprons and cute sunbonnets.

It was pretty late when they served refreshments. They were good victuals too, cider, gingerbread, and all kinds of things; but the best of all was the pumpkin pie—just like mother used to make.

After a while the young folks went home, sparkin' in the moonlight. They were awful happy too, and they said that they had had the time of their lives, because there wasn't nothin' stiff about the Agri Stunt.

ARKANSAS STOCK-JUDGING TEAM

F. C. Rosencrantz, G. K. Dodd, J. E. Stevenson, and O. D. Smith, representing the University of Arkansas in the judging contest at the National Dairy Show, Chicago, scored highest in judging the Guernsey breed.

Agri Jokes

Professor Osborne: "What is the greatest enemy to rice?"

Knowing Freshman: "Chinamen."

Johnson (to waitress in café): "Say, kiddo, have you got corn on the ear?"

Waitress (indignantly): "No, brute; that's only a wart."

Professor Branson: "Flinn, what method would you suggest whereby hens may be made to lay more eggs?"

Flinn: "Post signs around the hen-houses, 'Eggs 10c a dozen.'"

Horner (to Doctor Carroll): "Doctor, what preparation is used in crystallizing mirrors in saloons?"

Doctor Carroll: "Why, obviously, they must use some form of a saturated—sir, how dare you?"

Senior to Freshman Agri (pointing to painting of September Morn): "What would you say would be the title of this picture?"

Agri: "Buy a Bale of Cotton."

John: "Why is the way of the transgressor hard?"

Jack: "Because so many have tramped it."

Professor Schwartz: "Mr. Wilson, this plant belongs to the Begonia family."

Wilson: "Then I suppose you're only taking care of it while they're away."

Professor Schwartz (to George Willey): "What do proteids contain?"

George: "Oil."

Professor Schwartz: "What kind of oil, Omega oil?"

George (indignantly): "No, castor oil."

Earl Smith (whispering to his neighbor in an agronomy test): "What's the best method for applying lime to the soil?"

The Learned One: "Use a seeder."

Earl writes as follows: "Sprinkle the lime on a cedar tree and drag it over the field."

Freshman Hall mentioned boll weevil as an unsoundness of a horse.

Effie: "Don't you think Mr. Tovey has a large repertoire?"

Heerwagen: "Oh, I know he's awful fat, but I wouldn't say that about him."

Tracy Harrell, when naming the varieties of peaches in horticulture class, stated that the "Carnall Cling" was his favorite.

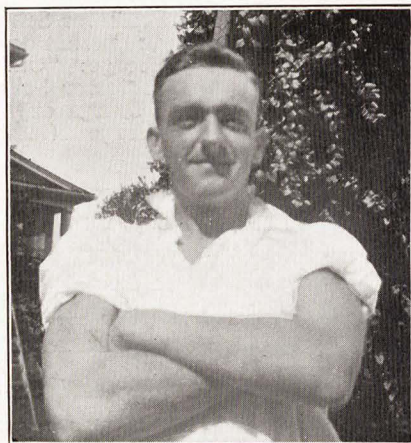

Conversation Overheard in the Normal Agri Class.—Lennie: "At the show last night the fair American lady entered the room dressed for a September day."

O. G. Holmes: "What time of day—morning or evening?"

THIS HOG'S TEMPERATURE IS 130° F.

J. C. HORNER, Champion Milk Drinker.

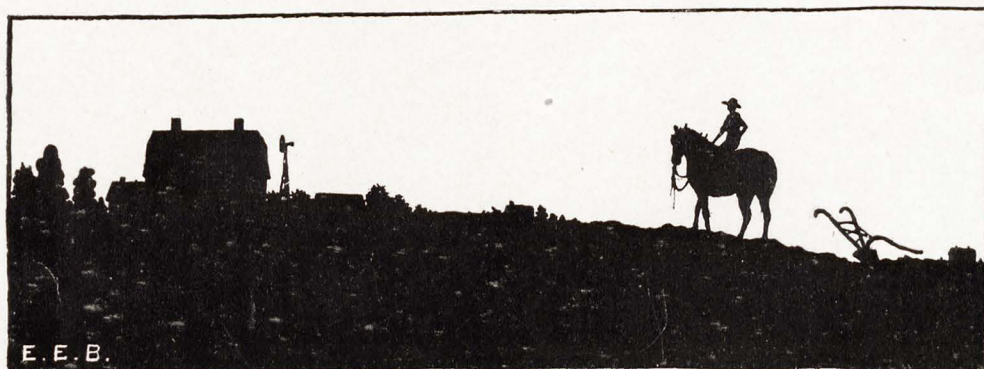

Professor: "And you should cultivate that faculty."

Freshman: "What, the University faculty?"

Branch (failing to remember): "Professor, I fail to remember that."

Professor Schwartz: "A very unfortunate failure, I assure you, Mr. Branch."

Dave Allis goes to stock room with test tube. "I want a little  $H_2S$ , please."

Officers

The Lee Society is the youngest in the University, but ranks with the best in literary activity. The Lee's history is a brief one. It has only been in existence eight years, but during that time has had some of the strongest men of the University as its members. Quality and not quantity is its standard. It has always been well represented in debates and inter-society contests.

The Student Council is a representative student organization composed of fourteen members, elected by the students to represent the different departments, organizations and activities of our University.

The purpose of the Student Council is to draw every organization into a close, sympathetic union, to establish precedents among students which will raise the standard and tone of our school, to maintain a perfect understanding between the student body and the faculty through coöperation with both student body and members of the faculty and to foster a school spirit bigger than a selfish interest in our department or organization.

The Student Council was established in 1910, and has proved that it is a force working for the best interests of the University in innumerable ways. Any matter or question relating to the University is discussed in the meetings. The Council calls mass meetings to put problems before the students. The "hazing rules," the work of the Council, were adopted by the students. The Student Council is the reflection of the student body, its spirit, its best interests and its desire.

SENIOR MUSIC.

A DORMITORY SCENE

FEB. 13th 5 P.M.

Dear Reader: If you have never on a cold winter night come up the old rock-slab walk on the campus, or up the concrete walk from Carnall Hall, and, after reaching the corner of University Hall, found the many cheerfully lighted windows of "Buch", Gray, and Hill Halls shining out to welcome you home;

If you have never been aroused from an almost death-like sleep at seven a. m. by the second ringing of the kitchen gong, and knew that the chances of your getting any cream depended on your speed in dressing;

If you have never been in the push at the Mess Hall door nor heard the chairs scream on the floor as some hungry boys tried to hasten the Matron's thanks;

If you never felt that queer, pressing-down, closing-in sensation somewhere about your soul when the Secretary announced that he would be in his room that day "to receive board," you yourself not knowing just when your check would arrive to relieve you;

If you have never been at one of our Sunday dinners at the Dormitory and helped to cheer the happy-faced co-eds who came that day to dine with us;

If you have never plowed your way through the bunch in the parlor after supper nor felt the delightful sense of fellowship with the boys from near and distant parts of the State;

If you have never sat in some neighbor's dive with a crowd of old men and discussed the thrilling events of other days, how you helped to administer a just punishment to some Freshman;

If you have never as a Freshman come out in fear and trembling in the wee small hours and faced the White Pants Brigade, nor responded to the "Left! Left! Left!" on a night shirt parade, nor taken part in the "Hail! Hail! the Gang's All Here";

If you have never heard the "Yo-la-la-ee-ooo" of a Kelley or a Carter or a Turner, or the Indian yell of an Oneal, or the barnyard music of a Roddy, or the shrill, piercing yelp of some owl student as he announced his home-coming in the night;

Or even if you have never approached with uncertain step that august Council over which Bethel presides;

If, dear reader, you have never had any such experiences, you cannot, you simply cannot, appreciate the following dormitory pages of this Cardinal.

To those who know and understand such things, to our good Matron, Mrs. Warner, and to our good housekeeper, Mrs. Reichardt; may the future years find many crossings and recrossings of our paths, and may the bonds that have held us together in the dormitories ever be as strong as they have been this year, 1914-'15, and may the warmth of our handclasps never cool with age.

To those whom "Will and Fate" have never permitted to enter within the walls of our dear old dormitory homes—to those who do not understand, to our fathers, mothers, and friends who have toiled with untiring hands that we may help fill up the records of the University, we hail you now and bid you come and ramble with us through our memories.

The Triangular Debating League

as at present organized, is composed of three Universities—Texas, Louisiana, and Arkansas. Each University has two debates each year, debating the affirmative of the subject at home, and the negative away. The debates with Oklahoma are arranged outside the triangular league.

OKLAHOMA-ARKANSAS DEBATE.

Norman, Oklahoma, April 12, 1915.

Subject: Resolved, That the Federal Government should buy and operate the telegraph systems of the United States.

Oklahoma affirmed, Arkansas denied. The Oklahoma men were Virgil Alexander and Louis Hoskins. Arkansas was represented by Karl Greenhaw and Robert D. Lee. The decision was two to one in favor of Arkansas.

ARKANSAS DEBATERS

F. K. GREENHAW

JERRY WALLACE

J. A. WINN

LOUISIANA-ARKANSAS DEBATE

Baton Rouge, Louisiana, April 9, 1915

Subject: Resolved, That the several states should adopt schedules of minimum wages for unskilled labor, constitutionality conceded.

K. S. Ray and Louis Gottlieb represented the affirmative for Louisiana, vs. J. T. Batten and J. D. Henry, who defended the negative for Arkansas. These men made a creditable showing and the odds seemed to be for Arkansas, but when the decision was read, Louisiana had two, and Arkansas one.

ARKANSAS-TEXAS DEBATE

University Chapel, April 9, 1915

Subject: Resolved, That the several states should adopt schedules of minimum wages for unskilled labor, constitutionality conceded.

James A. Winn and Jerry Wallace represented the affirmative for Arkansas, vs. E. C. Nelson and Raymon Myers of the negative for Texas. The decision was two to one in favor of Arkansas.

Skull and Torch

The Skull and Torch is an honor society, founded February 15, 1915, by the members of two other societies, the Skull and the Torch.

Purpose: To develop a higher efficiency in scholarship, and a more wholesome moral sentiment, through a fraternal relationship.

REQUIREMENT FOR MEMBERSHIP.

The membership of the Skull and Torch shall be composed of students who are candidates for a B. A. degree, who shall have advanced to second-term Junior standing, who shall have made an average grade of not less than G+, or 87%, upon the term examinations of all their University work, and who shall have given evidence of high moral character and influence.

The Honesty League

The Honesty League was organized in 1913 at the suggestion of Professors Evans and Walker of the English department. Its purpose is to eliminate the spirit of dishonesty and to encourage the square-deal feeling between students and faculty. Its members realize the fact that a diploma dishonestly secured will lower the scholarship of the owner and will also weaken the reputation of the University. The real end to which the League is working is a higher standard of scholarship and higher ideals among the students.

Membership is open to any student who will pledge himself not to cheat, and who will promise to report to the Honesty League Council any dishonest work about which he may know.

The Honesty League Council is composed of eleven students. Two are selected from the Senior Class, two from the Juniors, two from the Sophomores, and two from the Freshmen. The chairman, vice-chairman and secretary are, by virtue of office, members of the Council. All cases of dishonesty are tried before the Council, and no decision of guilt can be rendered without a unanimous vote of its members. The following students compose the Council for the second semester of this year:

Review of Football Season

Football in the University of Arkansas for the fall 1914 was apparently very unsuccessful. Out of nine games did the Razorbacks land but three victories. This record, however humiliating it may seem, is held sacred by every loyal student knowing that it was a hard fight for our constantly crippled eleven. Nearly three-fourths of the season was played by a majority of second team men. They were gritty enough, but, lacking in weight and experience, the odds were against them.

Arkansas opened the season with Hendrix College at Fayetteville. It was a hard fought game and the Tigers gave us a run for our money. The score was 13 to 7 in favor of the Ozark lads.

The next game we lost to Ouachita College, but in the third game we came back strong and took a brilliant victory from the representatives of St. Louis U. Our next and last victory was with L. S. U., whom we defeated by a score of 21-14.

FOOTBALL SQUAD, 1914

RUDD, J. T.—Fullback (Captain.)

A veritable human combination of strength and calmness. "Jimmie" is especially strong on running interference. He can be depended upon to be there when the opponents are trying an aggressive play. It was due to his influence that the team worked so well together as it did this year.

KENNEY, JAMES—Right End.

Kenney was not able to be with us at the first of the season, but his excellent work at the close of the season was invaluable to the team. His swiftness and his tackling made the safety man tremble when we punted to him.

"Stan" was out a greater part of the season on account of a bad knee, but when he was in his position at right tackle, the line was impenetrable. He is wonderfully fast, a clean tackler, a first-class man on attack and has the dash and aggressiveness so necessary for a tackle.

TURNER, A. S.—Left Tackle.

Our big tackle in his last year of varsity ball played a brilliant game, as he did when he was with our wonderful team of '11. With his ability to size up the play and his speed he made it almost impossible for any play to be sent out toward his wing.

We were indeed fortunate to have Chris with us. Although a first-year man, he filled the center position like a veteran. Arkansas need have no worry for the next three years for a man to fill the center position.

Triesch came to us from Fort Smith. His work on the defense was always to be noticed. In breaking up forward passes he proved to be a past master. His tackling was of the first order.

HENDERSON, CHARLES—Left Guard.

The left guard was always brimful of fight and enthusiasm. When he stamped his foot and threw back his head we knew which way things would go. His jolly good nature off the field kept everyone in the best of humor.

COOK, JAKE—Left Half.

Kid Cook was shifted from his old position at quarter to left half. He proved that he could fill this position equally well if not better than he did his old position. He is a steady, reliable, aggressive and alert player. After the close of the season his team-mates chose him by unanimous vote to lead the Razorbacks to victory in the season of '15.

LEVERET, G. V.—Right Half.

"Gip," the big right half, in this his first season of varsity ball, developed into one of the best players we have known and is undoubtedly to be placed in the star class. "Gip" could always go the last few yards for a touchdown. His run of 45 yards for a touchdown in the L. S. U. game was the best of the season.

SADLER, W. P.—Quarterback.

"Bill," with his experience gained from last year, filled the quarterback position in a very proficient manner. His gains in the St. Louis game were remarkable. He could pick the opponent's weak spots, and could always deliver in a pinch. Next year he should appear as a past master of the game.

Review of Baseball Season, 1914

The Razorbacks finished the season of 1914 with a brilliant record, winning 14 out of 19 games.

The team was fast and snappy and was equal to all emergencies. A team that could be taken to pieces and each individual part utilized with as much efficiency in one case as another. The outfield was excellent. But no more so than the never-failing machine of the infield. Our pitchers were constantly in form and but few times were they taken from the field on account of failing to hold the opposing team at their mercy.

System was the motto and system it was.

The season opened at home with the All-Stars and ended with Lombard College. During the course of the whole season did the Razorbacks suffer defeat but five times, which is a very excellent record.

The Cardinal 1915

STOUT, RODNEY—Center Field (Captain.)

"Roddy" was the old reliable center fielder that he had been in years past. He was always good in a pinch. He won the Oklahoma A. & M. game with a single. He is one of the best liked captains that Arkansas has had for a good while.

CARTER, J. N.—Right Field.

"Nick" was always a good hitter and could always be depended upon for good work when he was needed. When on trips he kept the team in good spirits by his jolly good nature, even if he did have to catch the train.

Jerry is an exceptionally hard hitter. He is always cool-headed. When all the rest of the team were angry, he always had a smile on his face. His popularity among his team-mates resulted in his being elected Captain for the year 1914-'15.

ERWIN, J. T.—Third Base.

"Chilly" was a good third baseman except when the balls came too high. The feature of any game occurred when "Chilly" passed first base, puffing like a steam engine. His avoirdupois and his sunny disposition kept the team in good spirits. He was a good cure for the blues.

COOK, JAKE—Short Stop.

"Fatty" could be depended upon to field any balls that came his way. His little endearing ways made him the pet of the team. He was especially noted for waiting the pitcher out, and was the lead-off man in all games.

SMITH, F. B.—Second Base

"Jack" did good work as second baseman. He was a good hitter. His specialty was getting receipts for his breakfast when on a trip. For further particulars see Coach Pickering.

TANNER, J. L.—First Base.

"Joe" is active and always on the spot. Always plays it safe when the ball comes near. He usually manages to get a hit out right of right field, so as to make it safe for Arkansas. Knows the machinery of the game thoroughly.

SMITH, C.—Utility.

"Big Smith" was a good utility man and was considered to be the father of the team, because he was the tallest man. Was quite a lady's man, and always watched the grandstand. Otherwise he played a good, consistent game.

PAYNE, WESTON—Catcher.

"Buck" was the heavy backstop for the team. Was the hardest hitter on the team, and is better known as the "Fence Buster." He was always working hard, but didn't have much to say.

BENTON, S. W.—Pitcher.

"Strawberry Percy" was the first string pitcher. When in good form it was almost impossible for his opponents to hit his mighty curves. Was a great eater and was especially fond of strawberries.

BUSH, DEXTER—Pitcher.

"The Pride of Prescott" was a very good pitcher. He was the lawyer of the team, and was especially fond of the ladies. Was noted for his power to furnish the chin music.

ELLISON, H. S.—Pitcher.

"Crook" was the best hitter on the team. Especially noted for his line drives to the outfield, which would tear up the fielders' hands. The other members of the team have been trying to discover the cause of his smile, but so far have had no luck.

LAMENT FOR W. K.

The birds are singing in the trees
And W. K.'s in love.
The doodlebugs and bumblebees
Are flying up above,
And humming love songs are the fleas
Which everything doth move.

The ticks and chiggers whet their teeth
Upon the barb wire fence,
Mosquitoes 'gin to go beneath
And hither hurry hence,
Preparing for the coming spring
With all their common sense.

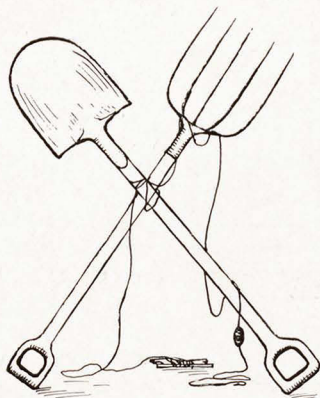

The crows pour forth their lovely lays,
The owlets shriek like h—,
The buzzard flits about and plays
His harp high o'er the dell.
The sweet sapsuckers warbled out
When W. K. had fell.

Oh, W. K., thy doom is come,
Thy knell is tolled today,
For thou hast followed Cupid some,
For thou hast gone astray.
And now you tumble in your bed,
Alas, and way-la-way.

Campustry Class

In response to a great and widespread public demand, our fellow sufferer, J. C. Wilkes, has instituted a campustry class, with himself as instructor. The class meets in room 46, Buch Hall, every Tuesday night. The first member to enroll was B. E. Johnson, who wanted lessons in Palmistry d'amour. W. D. Lee and Merlin Fisher refused to join, saying that they already knew all about the subject. But several other members have matriculated and all are much pleased with the results. Prof. Wilkes is a man of wide experience and is competent to teach the subject in all its intricacies.

Leora: "What kind of music is snoring?"

Estelle: "Sheet music."

Jerry Geren says that his father is operating a business under a consumed name.

Irene (hilariously, and waving gracefully): "Oh, hello!—Oh, is that you, Dr. Thomas?"

Murphy: "I wish you'd drop the 'mister' and call me just plain 'Fulton'."

Dorothy: "Oh, but it would be unkind to hurrah you about your personal appearance."

Prof. Murphy: "Mention a memorable date in Roman history."

Mildred Hon: "Antony's with Cleopatra."

Miss Holcomb: "Write a short theme on the subject, 'baseball'."

Frances Walker—(next day): "Rain—no game."

Reader: "Well, I see that Sarah Bernhardt has had her leg amputated."

Bill Brewster: "Is she a dorm girl?"

Current Books Reviewed by Theophilis

LOVE PROBLEMS, by R. Kelly Clardy (12mo., 35 pp. cloth, McRoy, $1.56 postpaid). In this his latest monograph of affairs of the heart, Mr. Clardy has shown a deep insight into feminine nature. Deals with college life especially, and should be given to students before they leave home, in order that they may have the best advice on this delicate subject.

PRIZE FIGHTS I HAVE WON, by Bill Wilson (12mo., 692 pp. canvas, Calvert McBride, $3.00 net). Mr. Wilson cleverly and entertainingly sets forth his experiences. The list of the dead and wounded among his opponents is especially edifying.

WILD BULLS I HAVE SLAIN, by J. D. Henry. (16mo, 3,216 pages, paper, 23c postpaid, Fayetteville Daily Pub. Co.) This thrilling story of adventures in the wilds of Buch Hall should be read by every public speaker who has political aspirations.

HOW TO WRITE POETRY, by E. T. Smith (24mo, 10 pp. limp leather, 9 full page illustrations of the author, McRoy, $2.50) This book embodies all the mature experience of this matchless poet. It is freely predicted in literary circles that Mr. Smith will be poet-laureate of Arkansas. He will gain this position by writing his masterful "Swan Song of Governor Hayes."

LOVE LYRICS TO Y. T., by Jerry Wallace. (12mo, 231 pp. seal-grained leather, with rubber stamp monogram of the author and a picture of Y. T. McRoy, $3.32 postpaid). This unprecedented outburst puts Bob Browning and Percy Bysshe Shelly in the shade. A model for lovers in their early stages.

The Cardinal 1915

GOSPEL HYMNS, by Alvin N. Thomas. (400 pages, cardboard. Tovey Pub. Co. Approved by Methodist Church and National Board of Censorship. Price 59c.) Prefaced by three of the author's greatest sermons on Life, Liberty and the Pursuit of Happiness. This is the greatest collection of sacred songs since Bunyan. Especially designed for evangelical work among the heathens of Shulertown.

HOW I BROKE JAIL, by G. Y. Short. (Contains many other essays on "How I Evaded the Secret Service Men," etc. Also, a chapter on "How I Escaped the Bootleggers of Montgomery County." 12mo, 231 pp. Cloth. Gill Pub. Co., $1.25 net.) Thrilling experiences by an old hand.

SWEATERS AND THEIR INFLUENCE ON SOCIETY, by George Cammack. (Illustrated profusely with pictures of the author at intervals throughout the book. 12mo, cloth, McCroy, $1.75 net). A warm topic warmly treated by a warm advocate of this article of apparel.

EVOLUTION AND REVERSION TO TYPE, by Jack Uzzelle. (12mo, cloth. Full page illustration of the author. 221 fascinating pages.) A great contribution to science. Much original introspective study.

A HISTORY OF THE WORLD, by J. O. Blackshare. ($2.50 net. 48 pp. leather.) A very comprehensive treatment of this momentous subject. Ten pages devoted to University affairs.

FASHION HINTS, by John Howell, Jr. (8 mo, 333 pp., illustrated with pictures in color of the author in various poses. $4.40 postpaid. Published by Room 2.) This book should be in the hands of everyone. Special chapters are devoted to dress for various occasions, such as coasting, horseback riding, dancing, etc.

POLITICAL SECRETS, by S. E. Gilliam. (12 mo., 441 pp., cloth, $2.50. Pub. by Peace League Pub. Co.). Tells, in a most interesting manner, the common sense methods employed by this veteran politician in his career. His ten rules for handling a political caucus have recently been adopted by such leaders as Jim Greig, Jim Winn, Clare Cargile and Archie Harville.

Prof. Gladson says Noah was the first electrical engineer because he made the first arc light.

---

Dorm. Girl—(rather large): "You know last night, Jack tried three times to put his arm around me.

Room Mate: "Poor fellow; he must need an extension course."

---

Miss Metzgar: "Would you like to take designing?"

Mary Dale: "O, heavens, no! Mother wants me to take something easy like cooking and logic."

---

Cardinal editor, (frantically): "A joke! A joke!"

Bridgey Craig: "I know you are."

---

Freshman girl (smiling sweetly): "Mr. Winn, do suggest some good fiction to read."

Winn (in thundering tones): "Minimum wage question."

---

Helen Pettigrew: "In the Arkansas-Ouachita football game, who pitched for Arkansas?"

Elizabeth Overstreet: "Joe Tanner."

---

Ellen Norwood (explaining to new office girl at Dorm.): "Now this lady will come to see me this afternoon, and instead of your bringing her on upstairs, take her in the parlor and bring me her card."

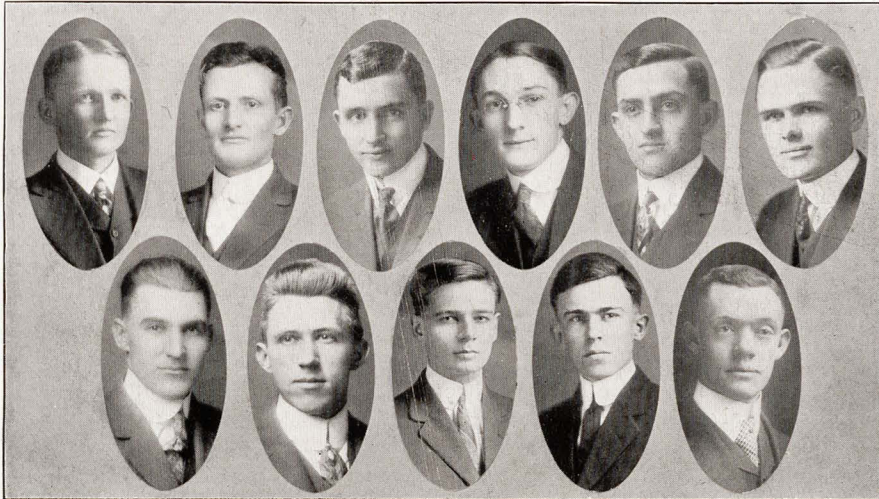

Office girl (running into Ellen's room): "Miss Ellen, she's there! she's there! But she didn't give me any ticket."

CERTIFICATE.

This is to certify that.....has completed a two-year course in campustry 5 and is now a student in a special course known as Mrs. (.....) 2b, which leads to the additional degree of S. M. (Science of Matrimony.)

Bachelor's Club

MOTTO: "For I say therefore to the unmarried and widows, It is good for them if they abide even as I. But if they must marry; let them marry; for it is better to marry than to burn." i Corinthians, 7:8.

"He that hath wife and children hath given hostages to fortune; for they are impediments to great enterprise, either of virtue or mischief."
Sir Francis Bacon.

MEMBERSHIP.

REED STEWART, D. D. (Doctor of Divorce). He has identified himself with this organization ever since he entered school. Has always upheld the right of divorce and free love.

J. D. HENRY, M. D. (Doctor of Matrimony). He says he used to be a lady-killer, but that his ten years' experience as a j. p. showed him the misfortunes of wedded life, and now he is one of the National Organizers of the Club. He will travel extensively in Howard County in spreading the Club's propaganda.

A. W. CATES, LL. D. (Doctor of Love). His noble career is the bête noir of all those who preach the power of a woman's good influence. He has reached the topmost pinnacle of fame without the aid and comfort of a single woman.

T. T. GILL, Ph. D. (Doctor of Phlirting). Tap received his degree by his noble work as editor of the Youngfolks' Corner of the Weekly. While engaged in this work he came to see the follies of flirting and joined the Club. He has been very active in spreading the doctrines of the Club, and in time will be one of the charter members.

W. G. MCGILL, A. D. (Doctor of Alimony). He says: "I have no wife and children, good or bad, to provide for, and have no fear of being sued for alimony. I am a mere spectator of other men's misfortunes." He has been accused by some Buch Hall rough-necks of having a girl down south of the University, but such statements lack the elements of truth.

J. O. BLACKSHARE, B. S. (Society Bachelor). His text books on celibacy are recognized all over the country as the very best to be had. Besides these he has written many novels, the most noted being The Wreck of the Fast Male, which enjoyed the largest sale of any book ever put on the market.

CLAUDE BETHEL, B. M. E. (Bachelor of Misplaced Endeavors). He is an extra good looking fellow and has often been singled out by strangers as a lady's man, but somehow he never had any luck and soon saw the evil of his ways and joined the Merry Bachelors. But because he rooms next to Byron Richardson is no proof that he is a grouch.

C. A. HUBER, B. C. E. (Bachelor of Celibate Engineering). Society has long been waiting for such a man. He will construct a bridge of celibacy across the troubled matrimonial waters over which men can travel in safety and happiness.

W. H. COURSON, A. M. (Matrimonial Artificer). A great theorist on the subject of matrimony. Author of 900 Ways to Avoid Conjugal Misfortunes, and its sequel, entitled, One Way to Remain a Bachelor, in which he points out that the only way is "Never Marry."

S. A. COCHRAN, B. A. (Bachelor Always). "Because I will not do the wrong to mistrust any, I will do myself the right to trust none; I will live a bachelor." These are his own words uttered just after one of his Freshman experiences in which she had proved herself untrue.

J. H. DERDEN, M. S. (Single Man). He says: "A man unattached and without a wife, if he have any genius at all, may raise himself above his original position, may mingle with the world of fashion and hold himself on a level with the highest; but this is less easy for him who is engaged."

The Uplift is in mourning ever since we lost our skirt-chaser, "Handsome Lexie McAtcer." He couldn't hide his feet in the picture, so he took his medicine, went home and reported us to the Dormitory Council. The Uplift survived that august Buch Hall body's third degree successfully, and we have more pep now than ever.

Our picture shows us "that every night time has a morning of its own," and that these are its first effects. Our star member, Freshman Allen, was serving our favorite dish and he couldn't decorate the mahogany.

A Trip Through the Sideshow

Personally Conducted by "Circus" Clark.

"Now we have here, ladies and gentlemen, Diana. What is it? What is it? It's a reptile. Yes, it's a reptile. Diana. The largest in captivity. She was born forty thousand miles from the Isle of Smoke. She is thirty-two feet long and as large around as the average man's body. This large boa-constrictress, Diana, can crush to death the largest elephant we have in our herd. Diana, captured by a fierce tribe of Igorotes in a far off mysterious island where nobody but cannibals fear to tread.

While this fierce tribe of Igorotes was capturing Diana, she crushed to death seven of the wild and ferocious tribesmen. Can you imagine it, ladies and gents? Can you imagine it? This large boa-constrictress killed seven of these ferocious Igorotes. We have today for you an exceptional exhibition. As Diana does not eat only once in six months, it is now about time to feed her, and it will be your first and only opportunity to see this large boa-constrictress fed before your eyes. Maybe this will be the first and last time you will ever witness this great feature. Diana, Diana, she eats a whole hog, a whole hog at one meal. You can't afford to miss it, you can't afford to miss it. The hog will be brought in from the rear now, ladies and gents. Buy your tickets now. Pay your dime admission. The professor will now play a piece on the band while you buy your tickets."

LADY-FUSSERS CLUB

FOUNDED IN EARLY ANTIQUITY BY SOLOMON.

LOCAL CHAPTER FOUNDED IN 1871, TEN MINUTES AFTER FOUNDING
OF THE UNIVERSITY.

Under able direction, the club this year has become more cosmopolitan than ever. Its members number among the most influential in school. They are leaders in all lines of endeavor. The present members point with pride to the fact that it was through their efforts that the rulings of the Committee on Student Social Affairs were passed. However, the Club is still trying to get the Committee to allow two dances a year to each organization, and also to allow dances to be given on Saturday nights.

Membership in the Club is quite an honor, and is conferred only upon those whose qualifications are unmistakable. The main object in view is the lifting of the lid from Carnall Hall on week nights.

From time to time, members of the Club conduct classes in campuistry. Several of these have been very successful, especially those given by Jack Uzzelle and John Howell. John Batten has given courses in tree climbing for young ladies. See elsewhere for illustration. J. Ed Joyner is great on telephone conversations, and should be followed as a model. The other members do not specialize in any one branch, but go out for the straight campuistry ticket. Before the end of the year all the Club will be awarded diplomas entitling them to recognition in all parts of the world where there are chapters of the order.

Dear Sir:

The boys told me that you wanted to see how my uniform fit me so I am sending you a picture of it, which was taken by one of the boys, as I didn't want to go over to Grabill's, you will notice that the britches bag a little but I am going to get them cut off.

Hope this will be all right. Let me know if you don't like my uniform.

Yours sincerely,

J. L. KETCHUM.

Time.—December 9, 1914.

Place.—Room 42, in Geology I class.

Clyde Stewart (to Big Freshman Turner): "Say, Turner, I'm around collecting bath-house fees for the first six weeks."

Turner: "I guess I don't owe you anything. I haven't used the bath house yet."

Prof. Waterman (in Economics 7): "Mr. Lee, when is a thing unconstitutional?"

A. W. Lee (promptly): "When it is declared constitutional."

Prof. Dickson: "What does the word 'Leviticus' mean, Miss Tennyson?"

Ruby: "Oh, that means the sons of Levi, of course."

Senior Girl (for the sixth time that afternoon): "Is Mr. Jelks there?"

Matron: "No, he is not here."

Same girl: "Oh, my, hasn't he came yet?"

HOLY ROLLERS

MOTTO: Anti-avoirduois.

RULES AND REGULATIONS.

Commander Ketchum, properly attired, places himself three paces in front of the company and commands, Holy Rollers, FALL IN! At this command a double line is formed, and silence is so thick that you can cut it with a knife. After roll call by J. D. Henry, F. H. D., Commander Ketchum commands, Take distance, MARCH! Each alternate man steps forward three paces and halts. The next command is, Prepare for Rolling! Each man places himself prone on the floor, being careful to pick out a soft spot. By the right flank, ROLL! Each man groans heavily and turns thirty complete revolutions to the right. At the command, HALT, the rolling ceases, and thirty seconds' rest is allowed, at which the command is given, By the left flank, ROLL! This is kept up for periods varying from an hour and a half to three hours, according to the gravity of the situation. Butt's manual may be introduced for variety. However, the rolling exercises are generally preferred. Each member is fined 25c for every time he smiles during the meetings.

J. D. Henry says that his idea of incombustibility is the University of Arkansas cadet uniform. In the great fire of March 23, which occurred in Henry's room, his uniform was uninjured. In commenting upon the incident, Henry said:

"Yes, sir, I lost four pairs of my best britches, a tooth-brush, seven seegars, my library, a picture of Carrie Nation, Roberts' Rules of Order, my vanity box, a jar of beauty cream and numerous other valuable articles of a personal nature. They were completely devastated. But that dad-burned uniform was absolutely unblemished. It was the only thing in the room that I wouldn't have minded losing. Why couldn't it have burned instead of my seegars?"

Shorty Ketchum (running into the room): "Say, boys, in dancing, does the boy lead when he is going backwards?"

Curnutt: "Not necessarily; it's when he squeezing her."

---

Prof. Waterman (to Dalton Jobe): "Was Mr. Watterson's policy of free trade a natural sequence of his environment?"

Jobe: "Yes, Kentucky was a free trade state since they did not like to pay a tariff on distilled liquor."

---

Prof. Waterman (to John Ike Moore in Economics 8): "What class is this "

John Ike: "Ec. 6."

---

"Do you think I have appendicitis, doctor?"

"Let me see. I have just finished paying for my auto, but taxes are due next month. Yes, I really think you have."

EXPERIENCE

I slip, I slide;
I skim, I glide
Through all my recitations,
I dip, I duck,
By just pure luck
Pass all examinations.

I look within,
With silly grin
At the fellow I have beaten;
And think, "What a fool
To study in school
When he could pass by cheatin'."

It went on thus
Without any fuss,
Until I was a Senior;
The Honor System came
Who thought it a shame
To allow such misdemeanor.

They said it was wrong,
That I must not go on,
And I and my habit must sever;
Though my friends may pass,
In class after class,
Still I must sit on forever.

THE ENGINEER'S PUZZLE

There was a civil engineer,
A brave young man was he,
He'd plant the tripod anywhere
That he wished it to be.

He measured here, he measured there,
Surveyed the landscape o'er,
But oftenest he trod the path
That led him to Her door.

A curious fact oft puzzled him
About that beaten track,
'Twas very short when going there,
'Twas so much longer coming back.

THE FRESHMAN QUEEN

In misty mid September
A Freshman from the train
Swung his bright tan suitcase
And stepped forth in the rain.

He looked at the directions
That he'd written on his cuff,
And then set out in frantic haste
In search of Doctor Brough.

Next day he tangoed forth at dawn
To treat his sense of sight;
He wandered down to Shuler town
And met her—(Yes, that's right).

All thoughts of Bess—the girl back home—
Were quickly chased away,
And in their place came Lucy's face
As always is the way.

Not all this Freshman did was right,
But he surely did it well;
Each day he'd straggle up the hill
And ring her front doorbell.

* * * * *

My diary, preceding,
Is old by years sixteen;
I'm living on a pension now,
She's still the Freshman queen.

Leaf from Joyner's Diary

Nov. 15. I arose at 7:00; breakfasted, and went to the main building. I had not been long seated in the Lieut's office where I cast my eyes about and saw my dearest one lingering at the entrance of the building. I went out to meet her but when I arrived there she had gone. I felt a kind of throbbing in my breast, a peculiar sensation passed over me. I supposed I was contracting a cold.

Nov. 16. I saw her pass at a distance, across the street. I waived at her but she did not see me. I plodded slowly on home. I rested not well that night.

Nov. 17. Sunday—I saw her at 10:00 this morning, but only said a word to her; at 3:00 we were strolling down lover's lane, hand in hand. She had on a light creamy colored dress, her hair was a little wavy, her face and form was as an angel's. As we strolled I discovered myself talking really babyish. I know not why. We returned at 6:55 p. m.

Dr. Brough: "Mr. Thweatt, what do you think of the Socialist's contention, such as that saying President Wilson's time is worth as much as that of an ordinary negro?"
Lawyer Thweatt: "It's mighty hard on the nigger."

Effie McNair says that J. Hamilton Myers' mustache just tickles her to death.

THE LONG AND THE SHORT OF IT.

Mr. Tovey (in History of Music): "Miss McNair, what is chamber music?"
 Effie: "Chamber music is illustrative and descriptive, suitable for a bedroom."

---

In the Agronomy class Prof. Osborn asked Charlie Overholt what makes pop-corn pop. The great journalist, being a little ill that morning said:
 "Why, to some extent, it is caused by the expansion of the inside."

---

"Father" Joyner has been in a "Brown" study nearly all year. There is very little hope of his getting out of it soon.

"Taps"

Bugle blow,
Sweet and low!

Through the hall
Hear the call—
"Good night, all."

Echo seems
To recall
"Peaceful dreams."
